Eisenhower Leads Taft By 3-1 In Monroe County

Edwards Elected Delegate

Tops Ruyak, Gains One Of Delegate Posts

Attorney Harold C. Edwards, Stroudsburg, upset an effort by Paul Ruyak, Bethlehem insurance and real estate man, to take one of the 15th District delegates to Democratic National Convention to Northampton County. Monroe Democrats did the trick.

Battling with odds of Bethlehem's powerful registration outweighing the total registration of Monroe and Carbon Counties, the two other counties which with Northampton make up the 15th district, Edwards won the right to go to a Democratic national convention for a second time.

Under party rules, Monroe was to have one of the delegate posts. Northampton, because of its size, always gets one delegate with the other rotated between Carbon and Monroe.

In 1948, Ruyak broke in and drove the Carbon man out of his turn, strictly on Bethlehem's heavy registration. Yesterday, Ruyak failed to repeat.

Attorney Everett Kent, Bangor, a former congressman, easily won the other delegate post for the 15th District.

Here is the vote with Carbon complete, 123 out of 125 precincts of Northampton and 27 out of 34 of Monroe's precincts.

	Edwards	Ruyak	Kent
Northampton	4,326	5,219	5,506
Carbon	1,017	617	1,203
Monroe	1,382	322	949
Total	6,725	6,158	7,658

Living Costs Up Slightly

Washington (AP) — The government chalked up another rise in the cost of living yesterday, the first in three months, but the increase was small.

The consumers price index, compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, rose one-tenth of one point, or less than one-tenth of one per cent. Despite the rise the index was one-half of one per cent below the all-time high reached last December and January.

Yesterday's index reflected consumer prices for goods and services as measured in mid-March, the index always being a month late.

The bureau's "new style" index reached 188 per cent of the 1935-39 average, or 1.9 per cent above a year ago and 10.5 per cent above the pre-Korean level. The "old" index was 188.4. The bureau maintains the two separate index systems, using slightly different sets of items for pricing purposes.

The "old" index is the one employed in many labor contracts to change worker wage rates according to living cost fluctuations. Few contracts were affected by yesterday's index, however.

New White House Thrown Open For Public Inspection

Washington (AP) — The reconstructed White House opened its doors to the public for the first time yesterday and a crowd of 5,544—from Dubuque, Ia., Tehran, Iran, and points between—flocked in for a look.

General reaction: The executive mansion looks wonderful in its new $5,700,000 decor.

Besides the blue room, yesterday's visitors saw the green and red rooms, the east room, the state dining room and caught glimpses of other parts of the White House before leaving by the north portico.

From now on, the White House will be open to the public Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 a. m. until noon.

Mighty Atomic Blast Causes No Harm To 1,500 Soldiers Huddled Only 3½ Miles Away

Atom Bomb Site, Nev. (AP) — An atom bomb, its searing heat and blast of unusual ferocity, was exploded yesterday as 1,500 troops huddled in foxholes along an atomic warfare "battlefront."

The soldiers were unhurt by the mighty explosion, proving that foxholes can shelter men from even the world's most destructive weapon. Seconds after the explosion of the bomb, dropped from a B-50 and detonated at 3,500 feet only about 3½ miles from the troops, the soldiers and the generals who were with them stood up and laughed.

These men were nearer than humans had been, except in heavy concrete bunkers—and except for the people of Hiroshima and Nagasaki who saw the bomb closer and died.

Lt. Gen Joseph M. Swing, one of three generals in the foxholes was flown back to the observers' post to report. He said:

"The young men were laughing and cracking jokes. They are confident that ordinary fortification can protect them."

Swing, Sixth Army Commander, his coveralls gray with the dust that blanketed the troops in a tremendous cloud as the explosion hammered the desert floor, said that "The worst that most of us got was a mouthful of dirt."

The explosion, in the crystal clear air of Nevada under a deep blue and cloudless sky, was a pictorial wonder. In the seconds immediately after the blast, with its accompanying unearthly brilliant light, a gigantic smoke ring floated upward over ground zero. Sea-shell colors—pink, salmon, cream,—tinged it.

Below, the picture was more grim. Spurts, then plumes, then a vast cloud of dust spreading out to a diameter of about three miles, welled up—an ugly gray, turning to almost black. It blotted from view the thin line of troops in their foxholes and fortifications. In the still air it lingered for almost half an hour before lifting and moving slowly off.

To the superficial view of observers without instruments, the size of the fireball in the explosion seemed to be about that of the Bikini air drop six years ago. But the thermal effect of the explosion and the area and power if its blast seemed much greater.

Fires in equipment and construction located as much as two or three miles from the air burst were started by the instantaneous flash of the bomb.

Prison Mutineers Purge Ranks Of Six Dissenters

Jackson, Mich. (AP) — Quarrelling mutineers purged their ranks of dissenters last night in a grim-siege at riot-torn Southern Michigan Prison.

Six convicts, apparently wavering in the mutiny that began Sunday night, were thrown out of cell-block 15. This is the disciplinary block where 173 diehards are making their last stand.

Peifly Wins Nomination

Bangor—Clair Peifly, one of this community's outstanding citizens, was one of the three Republicans nominated for representative in the General Assembly on the basis of complete, unofficial returns in Northampton County.

Peifly polled top vote of 5,920. Other winners of GOP nominations were J. A. Ide, Easton, 5,886 and Henry E. Ragot, Easton, 4,386. There were five seeking the nomination on the Republican ticket.

Eight sought three Democratic nominations. Winners were: Joseph Pocchioni, Bethlehem RD 1, 3,258 votes; James L. Gaffney, Easton, 2,984; J. F. Prendergrast, 2,944.

Second Flier Found Guilty

Washington (AP) — The Air Force announced yesterday that Capt. Carl J. Izard, 34-year-old navigator, has been convicted of feigning illness to avoid flying and has been sentenced to dishonorable discharge.

It was the second conviction recorded so far in 14 cases of airmen who have gone on so-called "sit-down strikes" against flying.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air chief of staff, told a news conference that a majority of the cases involved much more "fear of combat than fear of flying."

Vandenberg said it was quite understandable that "a lot of people would rather be in Central Park with the flowers than in combat."

231 Convicts End Revolt

Rahway, N. J. (AP) — A haggard band of 231 convicts—their defiance dissipated to meekness—yesterday ended a five-day revolt at Rahway State Prison Farm and freed unarmed eight guards held as hostages.

The abrupt surrender came as the once-surly prisoners touched a match to a pile of crudely lettered bedsheet signs which had fluttered outside their barricaded dormitory wing during the long siege.

The convicts, who had been holed up for nearly 115 hours, released the prison guards and then gave up to authorities.

One of the guards, as he left the debris-littered second floor wing, said: "I'm damned glad to be out of there."

The New Jersey State Department of Institutions and Agencies released this statement in Trenton after the mutineers capitulated:

"The settlement includes the same agreement stipulated by the department yesterday, namely a survey of parole procedures and a promise there would be no corporal punishment visited on the inmates who lately barricaded themselves."

These were the two main demands of the convicts.

Titusville First To File Returns

Titusville (AP) — This Crawford County community last night was the first to report complete returns in Pennsylvania's primary election.

With all seven precincts accounted for, Titusville voters gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower 945 votes to 85 for Harold E. Stassen, Sen. Robert A. Taft received 80 write-in votes and Gen. Douglas MacArthur two.

On the Democratic side, President Truman received one write-in vote and Sen. Estes Kefauver eight.

Stassen Runs Poor Second, Taft Third

Philadelphia (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower rode a tide of Republican ballots to a landslide popularity victory in Pennsylvania's presidential primary last night.

But Sen. Robert A. Taft, a straggling third on write-in votes had asked his supporters not to vote for him in the preference poll. He was battling the general on about even terms in a clash of opposing slates for eight national convention delegates from the Pittsburgh area.

Eisenhower, whose name was on the preference ballot along with that of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, spread-eagled his field of opponents by a more than four-to-one margin.

The GOP count, from 4,266 of 8,421 precincts, gave:

Eisenhower	413,388
Stassen	54,005
Taft	49,135

In the Democratic popularity contest, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee continued his primary-winning ways. In a race where no names were on the ballot and all votes were write-ins, Kefauver outdistanced his nearest opponent, President Truman, who said he isn't running.

The count, from 3,439 of 8,421 precincts, was:

Kefauver	11,604
Truman	4,431

On the strength of an appeal from Republican supporters for Democratic write-in votes for Eisenhower, the NATO commander ran third in write-ins with 1489.

This put him ahead of such Democratic candidates as Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma and W. Averell Harriman of New York.

He also was in front of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, who said he isn't running, and Vice President Alben Barkley, who has remained silent.

The Republican delegate race remained clouded, except for the light to be shed on it by the results in the four districts in and around Pittsburgh where the two slates met head-on.

Party leaders plan to keep the 60 delegates elected yesterday, plus 10 at-large previously chosen, largely uncommitted until convention time. However, Eisenhower's tremendous popularity demonstration might weaken that decision.

Democratic leaders also intend to keep their 70-vote delegation uncommitted. But Kefauver's showing gave him a strong bid for their support at the convention.

Eisenhower backers claimed their candidate's showing ought to give him the Republican delegate votes.

Albany, N. Y. (AP) — Friends of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won seven of 11 New York Republican primary contests yesterday, indicating he will receive at least 85 or 90 of the state's 96 votes at the Republican national convention.

Helped By Hannegan

Washington (AP) — James Waechter, a St. Louis lawyer testified yesterday that, thanks to former Postmaster General Robert Hannegan, he got a $25,000 fee for doing "practically nothing" in a 1940 deal involving the sale of five government buildings.

Many Democrats Vote For GOP Candidates

Cross-voting by Democrats for Republican presidential hopefuls was marked in contrast to Republican votes for Democratic possibilities in Monroe County's primary voting.

Here's the way the Democratic returns showed up for GOP possibilities:

Taft, 107; Eisenhower, 392; Stassen, 27; MacArthur, 36 and Warren, eight. These unofficial counts cover 30 out of 34 districts.

Here's the way Republicans voted for Democratic possibilities:

President Truman, one vote; Sen. Kefauver, two votes.

THE OLD AND THE NEW WAY of voting in Monroe County is shown at Stroudsburg's Fourth Ward yesterday with Ora Woodling, judge of election, holding his last paper ballot as he looks over a modern automatic voting machine. The machines will be used for presidential voting in November in both Stroudsburg, Middle Stroud and Smithfield Township. (Daily Record photo)

Critics Of Steel Seizure Fail By Slim Margin To Push Ban Through Senate

Washington, (AP) — Senatorial critics of President Truman's seizure of the steel industry failed by a narrow margin yesterday in a move to deprive him entirely of Federal funds to operate the mills.

In the House, meanwhile, a resolution was introduced to impeach him for the seizure. There were predictions it probably never would come to a House vote.

But the Senate Banking Committee launched a move which may exert more pressure on the administration. It voted to investigate government handling of the steel dispute—and to hold up action meantime on a bill to extend the wage-price controls program.

Since the administration calls the control program vitally necessary, some senators figured the Banking Committee's decision might act as a spur to settle the steel crisis.

The Senate voted, 47 to 29, to take up a proposal to bar the use of any Federal funds for operation of the steel mills, but because a two-thirds vote was needed under the existing parliamentary situation, the move was defeated for the time being at least.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Ave., the President's Mobilization Advisory Committee voted recommendations with regard to the steel dispute but the White House withheld announcement of their nature until today.

However, the 16-man group—made up of equal numbers of members representing the public, industry, labor and agriculture—was reliably reported to have voted on three points:

One—A declaration that the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) recommendations for settling the steel dispute came within stabilization policies and did not exceed them.

Two—A recommendation that the steel industry be made to justify any departure from existing price stabilization rules if the industry is to get more than a $3-a-ton price boost.

Three—A condemnation of those who have criticized public members of the WSB as being biased in the steel case.

Members of the group indicated there had been some dissent.

Kefauver High Among Democrats

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower rolled to a three-to-one victory over his nearest opponent—Sen. Robert Taft—in 27 out of 34 districts in Monroe County in yesterday's weak primary voting while Sen. Estes Kefauver drove to a four to one victory over President Harry Truman, his nearest write-in rival.

The Eisenhower swell began with first-reporting Barrett and never stopped. It rode over into the Democratic column with some odd write-in voting which saw Truman invade the Republican ballot. Taft was also a write-in on the Democratic side with Warren, Stassen, and MacArthur.

Voters also went out of their way to express their feelings with write-ins of Kefauver, Stevenson, Russell, Kerr, Harriman and Barkley on the Republican side.

It looked like rebellion on the part of the voters, if the switch of candidates by party voters means anything.

And, legally, it all meant nothing since the delegates who won for both parties are "uncommitted" and can follow the mandate of the voters or not follow it, as the situation may warrant.

In the straight party voting, the Republican preferential race in Monroe County saw Eisenhower roll up a total of 1,393 votes.

Harold Stassen, the only other GOP hopeful whose name was on the ballot collected 154 votes.

Sen. Robert Taft, who said he would not enter the Pennsylvania popularity contest with organized effort, except in Pittsburgh, received 496 votes.

General MacArthur received 33 votes and Governor Warren of California, the "dark horse" if there is such a thing, received five votes.

In the Democratic voting, President Truman received 81 votes to 354 for Senator Kefauver. Governor Stevenson, of Illinois, picked up 12, Senator Kerr of Oklahoma none and W. Averell Harriman garnered seven votes. Vice President Barkley did not receive a vote.

Strict apathy marked the Democratic write-in voting and most of the other voting.

Rep. Francis E. Walter alone stood out as a great vote gatherer in Monroe County. Mr. Walter, unopposed for the nomination, received 1,664 complimentary votes. Guy K. Bard, seeker of the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator was defeated here 613 to 855 for G. Harold Wagner. Bard had organization endorsement.

Likewise, the organization endorsed candidate for the auditor general nomination, Genevieve Blatt, lost to E. J. Joseph 526 to 881.

Organization candidates won where contests occurred on the Republican ticket.

Sen. Edward Martin won decisively—1,307 votes to 324 for James P. Scoblick and 249 for Steele Clark for U. S. Senator nomination.

J. C. Arnold won over H. M. Montgomery for Supreme Court 1,044 to 749.

J. R. Craig, Bethlehem, the GOP unopposed nominee for Congress, received a complimentary voting totaling 1,668.

Government Buys Pork To Bolster Sagging Prices

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department bought 12 million pounds of pork products yesterday. It acted under a new program designed to help divert "temporary burdensome surpluses" from the nation's meat market.

Officials said they hope this and additional purchases will help raise producer prices of hogs, which have been at relatively low levels for many months.

The pork will be donated to the government-sponsored school lunch program.

Martin, Bard Lead

Philadelphia (AP) — U.S. Sen. Edward Martin appeared last night to have won renomination in Pennsylvania's Republican primary. Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster, a U.S. district judge, was running far ahead in the contest for the Democratic nomination.

Cleanse Surface, Then Re-Enamel

Before applying a new coat of enamel over a surface which has already been enamelled, wash the surface thoroughly. When the surface has completely dried, go over it carefully with No. 1 sandpaper. This will break the gloss and permit the new coat to adhere without peeling. An enamel undercoat is often applied before the final finish to insure a smoothly uniform surface. When thoroughly dry, this is lightly sanded with 00 sandpaper and then wiped clean.

Cheap or Dangerous?

The President of the United States told reporters that he has the right to seize the newspapers and radio stations of the nation if he believes such seizure to be in the interest of the community.

The President did not make this comment as a threat, but rather as an answer to a question from a reporter. He may believe, therefore, that he gave an academic answer to an academic question.

Reporters like to ask provocative questions, but the President of the United States is under no obligation to play the role of a stooge to the straight man. He does have an obligation to the country to weight his words for the effect they will have on public opinion.

To be sure, we can conceive of some dire extremity, such as an overwhelming national catastrophe, that might require seizure of all means of communication during the crisis. But we can conceive of no justification for putting forward this claim to executive power.

Yankee Thrift

Economists today are estimating that consumers are saving around 9 per cent of their spending money, income after taxes. And they expect this trend will continue.

At the same time, another report indicates concern in Washington over the cashing of savings bonds and there is talk that the government may be coming up with a new bond plan that will pay a good rate of interest on the early years that such bonds are held, as well as over the 10-year period. And that seems to be a worthy project.

There appears to be no doubt that after the World War II and post-war spending spree, John Q. Public has pulled the strings of his purse a little more tightly, getting back to

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Springfield, Illinois. Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson, of course, has all of son's politeness but firm refusal to seek the Democratic presidential nomination left party machine politicians in this state hanging on the ropes.

Jacob M. Arvey, Democratic boss and close advisor to Governor Stevenson, made the statement of the week when he said the Governor's decision made his "very unhappy." The truth is that Stevenson admitted what Arvey and other Democrats have known for a long time, but consistently refused to confess: that the Democratic party organization in this and other states is coming apart at the seams.

Naturally, Arvey and the other machine bosses, blame the White House for the impending disaster. They can't find anyone willing to run on Mr. Truman's record who is acceptable to their brand of political manipulation. Normally, the powerful political bosses have to keep brushing prospective candidates off their backs. But this year things are different.

Not only different, but desperate. So much so that even W. Averell Harriman, the weary errand boy for both New Deal and Fair Deal administrations, has been treated out as the political burnt offering of boss Ed Flynn and his New York political cronies.

In public speeches Harriman has difficulty making himself coherent, despite a flock of high priced ghost writers. The mere mention of his name gives Arvey the political shudders.

In fact, hardly a Democratic boss west of the Bronx can stand the thought of Harriman heading the party ticket. He is willing, however, and is the darling of the same Democrats who tried to make a president out of Henry Wallace, the 1948 stooge of the Communist party.

California Democrats have yet to be heard from but party bosses here are not awaiting the western word with much optimism. The way things are going, Democrats here would not be surprised if Ed Pauley is "reduced to pledging California to James Roosevelt, who will run for any office any time.

In New Jersey the political boss of the Democrats, Archibald Alexander, is making a brave try at ignoring Senator Estes Kefauver while he scans the horizon for another candidate. He would have liked a small piece of Gov. Stevenson, but he is now in mourning along with Jake Arvey

Lattimore

Forgets

It is amazing, when one reads the transcript of the McCarran Committee's testimony, how much Owen Lattimore could forget. The Johns Hopkins professor had an office in the State Department Building (that is, the old building now used as a White House annex), but he seems to have a foggy notion of how he used it and what he did there. It is all very unimportant except that Lattimore's defenders have painted a picture of a paragon of virtue who is being abused by Senator Joe McCarthy and Senator Pat McCarran, while he grew a halo around his noble head.

The testimony actually does not read that way. He was asked whether he had had a desk in the State Department. He said, yes. Then this colloquy took place:

"Mr. Morris. Were you a close associate of Lauchlin Currie?"

"Mr. Lattimore. No, I would not say close. My work brought me into considerable contact with him for a very short period."

"Mr. Morris. Did you in fact have an office in the State Department Building with Lauchlin Currie?"

"Mr. Lattimore. I had the use of one room of Mr. Currie's offices in that building."

However, he was living in Baltimore and he only came over to Washington occasionally. It was impossible to get him to say frankly how many days each week he used that room. This is the testimony:

"The Chairman. Answer the question propounded to you."

"Senator O'Connor. It would be accurate to say you used it several times a week over a period of four or five or six months?"

"Mr. Lattimore. Yes."

Now, if you or I were given the convenience of office room in the State Department, we would not only remember it, but we would tell our children and grandchildren about it. But not Owen Lattimore! He took such conveniences in his stride. He testified in both executive session and in the open session that his attendance at that office was "irregular and infrequent."

However, the committee showed him a letter dated June 12, 1942 that he had written to "Dear Mr. Kizer." In that letter he had said:

"My home address is as typed above, and my home telephone is TOWSON 846-W. I am in Washington about four days a week, and when there can always be reached at Lauchlin Currie's office, Room 228, State Department Building, telephone National 1411, extension 30."

Also, Lattimore denied that when Lauchlin Currie was away he opened Currie's mail. Lauchlin Currie was one of President Roosevelt's administrative assistants, and he has been testified about adversely as a foreign agent before this committee. It was Lauchlin Currie who got Roosevelt to appoint Lattimore to be Chiang Kai-shek's adviser. All this is in the record.

So, after Lattimore denied that when Currie was away, he Lattimore, handled Currie's mail, which ordinarily would have to do with White House business, the counsel for the McCarran Committee confronted the professor with the following letter which he had sent to E. C. Carter, the head of the Institute of Pacific Relations:

"Dear Carter:

"Currie asked me to take care of his correspondence while he is away and in view of your telegram of today, I think I had better tell you that he has gone to China on a special trip. This news is absolutely confidential until released in the press."

Lattimore had forgotten about his opening White House mail which passed over Currie's desk as administrative assistant to the President. All that he could say on the subject was: "Obviously, my memory was inaccurate."

Then, this colloquy followed:

"Mr. Morris. That is written on White House stationery. Is it, Mr. Lattimore?"

"Mr. Lattimore. Yes, dictated to Lauchlin Currie's secretary."

"Mr. Morris. Are you acquainted with the testimony before this committee that Lauchlin Currie aided an espionage ring in Washington during the war?"

"Mr. Lattimore. No, I don't remember seeing that."

The professor forgot so much! In fact, as one goes through this testimony, it is difficult to discover what Lattimore actually remembered about what he did.

Try And Stop Me

—by Bennet Cerf

A Mirror For Princess is a book written from the heart by a powerful king to serve as a guide for his favorite son and ordained successor. A new edition has just been published but the original was taken down by the king's scribes away back in 1082. The king's name was Kai Ibn Iskander, and he ruled over a land called Gurgun. Furthermore, the advice he doled out over eight hundred years ago still sounds pretty good today. For instance (the good prince being a cannibal): "Once you engage in battle it is inexcusable to display any sloth or hesitation. You must breakfast on the enemy before he dines on you." On the subject of honesty he advised, "Be ready of speech, my son, yet never tell lies and do not gain the reputation of being a liar. Be known for veracity, so that if ever in an emergency you utter a lie it will be believed."

Human Salvage

"A brilliant man, but we couldn't keep him because he drank too much."

No one knows how many times those words, or others like them, have been spoken by company executives. Alcoholism may be a relatively small personnel problem, in most firms, but it can rob an organization of some of its best men.

All business and industry should be interested in the proposal to establish a clinic for alcoholics. Such clinics, elsewhere, have salvaged many a drinker.

The proposal is being made by Pennsylvania Committee for Education on Alcoholism. It doesn't have the required money, but suggests that the State Legislature, or businesses and industries, might put it up.

They would be saving careers, if not lives.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—The other day I was muttering something about how nice it is to encounter a man or woman who has reached the seventies or eighties without doddering. The next nicest thing of which I can think is to meet a person who has a bad physical handicap but who has stepped all over that handicap and made a place for himself in the world just like a normal person, whatever that is.

I met a man like that today. His name is Victor Ridder and, sitting in the sixth floor of a rickety old building in the shadow of the Brooklyn bridge, he performs the chores of one of America's most influential publishers. He puts out the German-American paper, Staats Zeitung, is vice president of the Journal of Commerce, director of the Catholic News and head of Ridder Publications, Inc.

To all the physically handicapped, all over the world, I would like to commend the words of Victor Ridder and I quote: "Sure I have a physical handicap. But what of it?"

Mr. Ridder is gentle, genial and not at all coarse, but he is a guy who stands up to adversity and beligerently flicks a wet towel in its face. When he was three years old he contracted tuberculosis of the hip and 40 years later he picked it up in the other hip.

Mr. Ridder is what the phrase-makers call a helpless cripple but if you were to call him that, he'd laugh in your face. With the help of special crutches, he gets around better, does more and enjoys life more fully than any three men you can name. When I met him, he was getting ready to fly to San Francisco for a conference of Catholic chaplains connected with the Boy Scouts. In which he is active.

These days Victor Ridder helps other "helpless cripples" through his work in an organization called Goodwill Industries of New York, which runs an up-town shop employing 160 people who recondition donated merchandise for sale in low-income neighborhoods in Goodwill stores. He's done this for three years and just the other night the organization threw a big dinner at which he received its 1952 Goodwill Award.

I asked him why he does it—why he helps these lame and maimed.

"I figure I was luckier than others," he said. "I came from a well-to-do family—my father founded Staats Zeitung and the Catholic News and we go back five generations, right here in New York. And I had a mother who never wasted any sympathy on me. 'All right,' she told me when I was a boy, 'so you have a bad leg. So what?'"

He grinned. "When I was a kid, I was always just about to die," he said. "I never went to school. I stand before you utterly devoid of education. I'd try it for two weeks and they'd send me home for the funeral."

"Until I was 15 I wore a brace. When I was 16 I suffered a stretch of blindness, too, but I have only a vague recollection. When you're young, somehow it doesn't bother you so much." He shook his head. "Now if you were blind and deaf," he said, "I'd say you really were physically handicapped—but you couldn't get Helen Keller to admit that, could you?"

When the T. B. spread to the other hip in 1939, Ridder was laid up a year and a half, with a cast on it for 10 months. When he started outside activity again, he was carried down to the old Zelting building on a stretcher.

All his life he has been a social worker, starting back when he was 17, at a Catholic Boys' club in the East 80's. He once was chairman of the State Board of

BAD PENNY TURNS UP

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

Sutton, I am quite sure you'd send your kids out of the room.

Senate and House investigations have become so common that most of us don't pay much attention to them any more.

One crook more or less doesn't seem to make much difference.

But here is one investigation, recently approved by the House Rules Committee, that should get the hearty endorsement of every citizen.

It is an investigation which might eventually raise the moral standards of radio and television. Rep. Gathings of Arkansas, who proposed the inquiry, told the committee that he is not trying to reform the world.

But, he said, he wants to see what can be done to insure wholesome programs on the air.

He made a survey of six television channels in Southern California for one week, between the hours of 6 and 9 p.m., when most children are looking at the screen.

The results were appalling—and would probably have been just as appalling if he had made the survey on radio.

This is what he found:

In that one week there were shown 91 murders, seven stage holdups, three kidnappings, two cases of arson, two jailbreaks, one murder by explosion, and numerous cases of assault and drunkenness.

Heaven knows I am no reformer. As a matter of fact, I must admit that I enjoy a few good murders and holdups on my television set.

There are several of these programs that I wouldn't miss for anything. But I am adult, not a kid in its formative stages.

I guess it's just that there isn't enough "Bing, Bang, Bing" in our every-day lives.

And, after all, it is a little less dangerous to look at a television holdup than to invite Willie "The Actor" Sutton to your house for a little chat. You never know when he'd pull a gun on you.

But if you DID invite Willie

Sutton, I am quite sure you'd send your kids out of the room.

Have you noticed how many youngsters are running around the streets now with guns tied to their little stomachs?

Have you noticed how many of the games they play these days are imitations of what they see on your television screen or hear on the radio?

But it isn't only the kids who look and listen.

Just the other night we had late company.

On one channel there was one of these stick-up-dramas with plenty of gunplay and a few murders thrown in.

On another channel there was Dagmar—that remarkable girl who can be used both as air-cooling or heating equipment.

I gave my company their choice.

And almost unanimously they selected the drama.

Is that good?

But all joking aside—I think the networks have a serious responsibility toward the public.

And that responsibility goes farther than just selling soap powders or cigarettes or automobiles.

The morals of one child certainly are worth more than a carload of toothpaste or shaving cream.

"I Like Ike" lapel buttons have been cropping up in lots of places. Looks like the 1952 political campaign is already on for better or for verse.

And for Eisenhower fans who shy at nicknames, how's this: "Dwight? Right?"

The average male, statistics show, speaks only five words on coming home from work. We thought it was only three: "When's supper ready?"

The television chair, highball glass and lamp is now followed by a special TV pipe. For creating a smoke screen, no doubt, so one needn't look at the cigaret commercials.

A reply to a famous playwright's recent letter to the general public admitting he was a Commie in 1934.

Dear Sir:

I am glad you have warmed up to the American way of life and can now see the glow of democracy in the pattern of the U.S.A. But your letter is not too hot so far as explaining how you came to tie up with Big Joe. You say that you were only 24 years old and a bit actor, making only $40 a week when you joined the Commies back in the depression. There were, however, millions and millions of young men who made less than $40 a week and endured months and years of unemployment without going back on the U.S.A., my boy.

"At that time," you say, "nearly all of us were menaced by two things: the depression and the ever-growing power of Hitler. Streets were full of unemployed and shaken men." "Nearly all," huh, is an understatement when you speak of the menace of depression. But Stalin was generally regarded as a pal of Hitler and "nearly all" of us saw no comfort in a flight to his arms. Yes, the streets were full of unemployed and shaken men. How right you are! But not all the shaken men wobbled into Moscow's embrace. And our hat goes off to the unemployed and shaken millions, especially the men with wives and families, who, in stark suffering and privation, struggled through without once feeling the urge to join those who could

High School Boys Battle Forest Fire Threatening Buildings

Pocono Twp. Youth Help Fight Blaze

High school students joined the battle yesterday against the whopping blaze which has already burned off some 3,000 acres in the Big Pocono area.

The alarm went out to Pocono Township Volunteer Fire Co. when the flames threatened the E. C. Arnold farm buildings and the Crescent Lake Hunting cabin shortly before 10 a. m.

The fire company was caught short-handed, with only four men available.

Fire Warden Russell DeHaven went to Pocono Township "High School" for help. Principal Lawrence Wile gave the OK and volunteers were called for.

The entire male enrollment of the school responded. From the volunteers, 10 were chosen from the junior and senior classes. When the three fire trucks rolled at 10 a. m., the 10 boys were aboard.

Until 5 p. m. they lighted back-fires and battled the flames with Indian tanks—driven out by the heat from time to time, but always plunging back in again, DeHaven reported.

To save the farm and cabin, the regular firemen laid a thousand feet of hose and used the booster tank.

"Those boys really saved the day," DeHaven said. He said he believed the buildings would have gone, without the help of the students.

The youths were driven home in time for their Future Farmers of America annual banquet last night.

The fire company from Pocono Manor also battled the flames to protect two threatened buildings on the east and northeast side of the big blaze.

By nightfall, the district forester's office reported the fire "pretty well knocked down," and said he didn't think it would progress very much during the night.

Again it was a question of "wait and see" as far as the fire's activity today. Rain would end it. A dry day and wind would probably beat it into renewed action again.

The fire was started by an incendiary about 6 p. m. Sunday. More than 50 men have been fighting the crawling fireline daily since then.

Middle Smithfield, Shawnee Presbyterian Supply Pastors To Be Ordained In June

Supply ministers of the Middle Smithfield and the Shawnee Presbyterian Churches will be ordained as ministers of the denomination and installed as pastors of the two churches during June.

The Presbytery of the Lehigh yesterday meeting in Catasauqua, Pa., completed arrangements for the ordination and installation of Rev. Alex Crossan at Middle Smithfield and Rev. Robert Bradburn at Shawnee. Ceremonies for Mr. Crossan will take place June 2 and those for Mr. Bradburn will be June 23.

The body received Rev. Charles F. Starzer as a member of Lehigh Presbytery. Mr. Starzer will be installed as pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Roseto Friday, May 2.

Another matter of interest to the Slate Belt region was the elevation of Rev. Richard Rettew, Bangor, to the chairmanship of Presbytery Life.

The Presbytery received Francis Osterstock, an employee of Bethlehem Steel Co. for 17 years, as a candidate for the ministry. Mr. Osterstock is a resident of Allentown.

Bruce Wagner, member of the First Presbyterian Church, Tamaqua, was received by the Presbytery also as a candidate for the ministry.

The five Presbyterian churches in this region were represented by their respective ministers and lay delegates. Monroe County delegation included:

Rev. Ernest Campbell and Horace Westbrook, Stroudsburg; Rev. Frank Wingerter, George Constock and Ashton Burrows, East Stroudsburg; Rev. Hubert Newton and Francis Drake, Delaware Water Gap; Rev. Robert Bradburn and G. Willard Stettler, Shawnee; Rev. Alex Crossan, Mrs. Mahlon Hallett and Arthur Cortright, Middle Smithfield.

Rev. Robert Bowers, assistant minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Allentown, opened the meetings of the Presbytery.

Rev. Harry Maue of the Olivet Church, Easton, acted as moderator of all sessions.

The Presbytery's program on Christian Education was subject of a devotional and discussion period led by Rev. Dr. William Yongling and Rev. Dr. Vernon Smith, state executives of the church.

Miss Peace Mammen of India, now staying in Stroudsburg, was introduced to the Presbytery by Rev. Ray Musselman, Pen Argil. Miss Mammen gave an informative address on affairs of that nation.

Rev. Spangenberg's theme for the Sunday morning workshop at Pocono Union Church was "The Door." Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smethers Sr., and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stettler were visitors at the morning service and addressed the congregation. Mr. Smethers is manager of the Evangelical United Brethren Publishing House in Harrisburg which publishes the "Telescope Messenger."

Violin selections during the service were played by Mrs. Henry Baumann and the anthem by the church choir was "Be Silent Before Him." Mrs. Arthur Post was the pianist.

There will be no church service at 11 a. m. in the Pocono Union Church next Sunday, April 27. Rev. Spangenberg will attend the annual conference in Reading. Mrs. Paul Barry, the appointed delegate, will also attend this conference with the pastor. Sunday school, however, will be held at the usual hour, 10 a. m.

Mrs. Anna Homan, who has been ill for some time, has been admitted to the General Hospital.

Miss Sadie Merlo, R.N., of Brooklyn, N.Y., spent several days with her mother, Mrs. Charles Merol, her sisters, Miss Lena and Fannie Merol on Halstead Ave.

Seaman Charles Spencer Williams of the U. S. Navy Fulton, stationed at Philadelphia spent the weekend leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Williams and grandmother, Mrs. Lela Pipher and daughter Mildred on Main Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Strunk and son, William of Secret Lake, Avon, Conn., were guests at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Williams on Main St.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Decker of Phillipsburg, N. J. spent the weekend at the home of Mrs. Decker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Rusling and Mr. Decker's mother, Mrs. Daisy Decker.

Only election matter handled by the court yesterday resulted from a clerical error which left the name of Ira Rake, candidate for Republican committeeman in Barrett Township, off the face of a voting machine.

The error was reportedly discovered when Rake, who is unopposed for the post, went to the polls in the morning and found his name missing.

Chief Clerk Harry Taylor petitioned President Judge Fred W. Davis to place the name on the ballot. The petition was granted.

A copy was taken to Judge of Elections John Smith at Barrett Township.

Rake's name was printed on the cardboard strip at the front of the machine, the points under the name was released for use, and from about 11 a. m. on, the vote was tallied automatically by the machine.

Lehigh Gives Ike Big Vote

Allentown (AP)—Lehigh County gave Gen. Dwight Eisenhower a thumping 9-1 victory yesterday in the Republican presidential preference vote.

Complete returns from Lehigh's 106 precincts showed Eisenhower with 9,423 votes, compared to 1,571 for Harold Stassen and 1,097 write-ins for Sen. Robert Taft. Eisenhower and Stassen were listed on the Republican ballot; Taft was not.

The general received 56 votes in the Democratic write-in preference returns. Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee topped the Democratic count with 265 votes. There was also a scattering of support among Democrats for Taft, President Truman, Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia, and Mutual Security Director Averell Harriman.

Rev. Harry Maue of the Olivet Church, Easton, acted as moderator of all sessions.

The Presbytery's program on Christian Education was subject of a devotional and discussion period led by Rev. Dr. William Yongling and Rev. Dr. Vernon Smith, state executives of the church.

Paint Can Make House Look Modern

A new coat of paint, properly selected and applied, can be one of the most effective of all modernization devices. Careful choice of shades can bring to the house effects not thought possible by the average home owner.

In modernizing a home, painting should be high on the list of improvements.

Dark roofs seem to be lower to the ground; if the roof is too high for the length of the house, paint it a dark color.

If the house has shutters, paint the shutters of the upper story the same color as the roof. This will visually bring the roof line lower, as the eye will travel to the bottom of the dark shutters. Paint the remaining shutters the color of the body of the house.

If the roof line is cut up by too many gables, everything about the roof should be dark, and nothing should stick out in color.

Dormers will make a small house seem larger if they are painted on their faces the color of the side wall of the house. This will carry the side-wall color up into the roof and give the appearance of additional height. Dormers on a tall house should be painted the dark roof color. They will visually become part of the roof and not of the side walls, making the house seem lower.

If the chimney is too large for the size of the house, it should be painted the same color as the body of the house to make it appear smaller. With this camouflage, the chimney will blend with the house and will not be noticed.

Where window openings of different sizes disturb the unity of the house's over-all shape, the treatment is painting the openings the same color as the body of the house.

Where a color accent is needed to lower the roof line or draw attention to the first floor, shutters help to achieve this result.

If shuttered windows are of various sizes, remove all smaller shutters and leave only those of the larger and more uniform size.

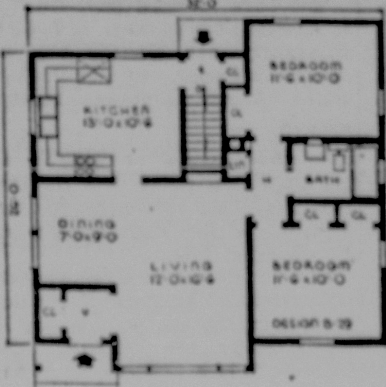

Double Action Doors Improved

Double action doors between kitchen, butler's pantry, and dining room are being included in the plans of many new homes. Older homes may benefit from the same convenience, however, as regular doors may be replaced with those of double action.

Double acting door closers can now be obtained which are concealed in the woodwork over the door. Holdopen features are regarded as standard in most fixtures of this kind. Simple to install and adjust the mechanism is entirely out of sight and no cutting of the floor is said to be necessary.

Cork Tile Makes Good Paneling

Very effective decorative use of cork tile paneling is possible, home-decorating authorities say, and many different effects may be obtained by the number of tile models available. The cork comes in a variety of handy lengths and is easily applied to the wall surface. Colors run mostly to natural, soft brown tones.

THE BIDFORD features a dining alcove which forms an L-shaped living room. The plan provides cross ventilation and light as well as increased livability of both the dining and living areas in the L-shaped room.

The Bidford is entered through a vestibule equipped with a coat closet. The roof overhanging provides shelter for this entrance door. The kitchen of The Bidford is arranged to eliminate unnecessary steps. It also has ample dining space. A convenient closet is situated at the rear entrance to the kitchen. All of the bedrooms have generous wardrobe space. There is a linen closet in the hall. The low roof lines and large windows give a pleasing appearance to The Bidford, which is set close to the grade. The exterior of the house is finished with siding. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles. Plans call for insulating walls and ceiling.

Many Changes Due In Next Half Century

Stairways will disappear, walls become movable, and floors radiate warmth throughout the day and night in the homes to be built in the next half century. Home construction is due for even more sweeping changes in the next 50 years than in the first 50 of this century, during which such innovations as electric lights, tiled bathrooms, streamlined kitchens and garages became commonplace.

The home of the future will be a place of recreation rather than chores, and the homemaker's working time will be reduced from its present 50 to 60 hours weekly to 40 or less. Smaller homes, to fit smaller families, wider use of such easily cleaned and maintained materials, and air-conditioning or insulating systems of dust precipitation will greatly increase Mother's leisure time, the forecast points out.

The one-story type dwelling will be generally adopted in the next 50 years, thus eliminating stairways. Bedrooms will be small, and when the children grow up and leave home, a temporary wall between two bedrooms will be removed to make a single large room, says the forecast.

Thanks to radiant heating, the father of the future will hit a warm, comfortable floor instead of an icy deck when he turns out for baby's 2 a.m. feeding. The floor will be of different materials, too, for clay tile and other products unaffected by constant heat will be universally specified, the forecast points out.

Homes of the future will be sound-proofed, so that the blare of the television receiver or radio won't go beyond a room, says the forecast. And outdoor living space, much talked of today, will be made really practical and comfortable without screens, probably through electrical or chemical methods of repelling insects and bugs.

Porch Roof Can Be Made Sun Deck

It is a simple matter to convert the roof of a porch into a second-floor sun deck, and the improvement would be one that the entire family could enjoy.

A railing around the outer edge of the roof would be necessary. A wooden balustrade would be sufficient, but for a larger and more expensive home a wrought-iron railing may be desirable.

Besides what structural changes may be necessary in the roof itself, all that would remain to be done would be installation of some suitable floor covering and provision of an entrance to the sun deck from the house.

Don't Oil Waxed Floors

Hardwood floors which are wax-coated should be cleaned with a mop or soft brush which is free from oil, as oil has a tendency to soften wax. A cloth wrung from warm, soapy water should suffice to remove the surface dirt. There are certain cleaners which are recommended for removing wax and for removing spots or discolorations from floors before refinishing.

Wyckoff Department Store To Mark 77th Anniversary

Turning back the clock 77 years, A. B. Wyckoff's Department Store tomorrow will open a gala nine-day celebration in honor of its 77th birthday.

A merchandising event, opening at 9 a. m., it will continue until May 3 and during that period promotions will be manifold.

Sears-Roebuck also are joining the celebration, entitling their participation—"Sears Old Timers' Days."

Opening day will find many employees attired in the dress that was vogue back in 1875 when the store first was opened. The history of Wyckoff's goes back to 1875, however, for it was then that young Daniel and Jacob Wyckoff loaded merchandise into a rickety Conestoga wagon and headed westward, peddling their wares through the Water Gap to Stroudsburg.

Amzie B. Wyckoff founded the present store and since then the name has become well known in the annals of retail selling.

At 10:30 a. m. tomorrow a parade will form and travel through the Stroudsburgs, affording residents a chance to see how the well-dressed woman of 1875 met the public. In the caravan will be six vehicles, of ancient vintage and these cars will be parked in front of the store for the remainder of the day for the public's inspection.

Tomorrow night, beginning at 6:30 over 130 guests, all customers over 50 years of age, will be feted at a dinner in Wyckoff's tearoom with Ernest H. Wyckoff as the host.

Another attraction arranged by the promotion committee will be the gift of 2,000 pieces of cake to customers and in one will be deposited a diamond worth $87. In 50 other pieces of cake will be capsules and inserted notes will inform the victor they are entitled to a pair of nylon stockings.

All employees of the A. B. Wyckoff, selling agency for Sears, Roebuck and Co. store are playing key roles in the "Sears Old Timers' Days" and growing long sideburns, goatees and old time hair-does to go with costumes to be worn during the event from April 24 through May 3.

An employee board of advisers is directing the affair. James Somers, assistant manager has been named by Henry Kresge, Sears manager to take charge of the store for this annual merchandising event.

Some 100 years of merchandising experience is represented by the planning committee which includes Edward Doran, John Lindstedt, James Detrick, Harold Fehr, Leona Spangler, Howard Mills, William Sanders, Alfred Baxter, Chester Kortright, John Sharbaugh, Jack Pennington, Robert Collins, Justin Feltham, James Farry, Richard Sprague, Earl Fehr, Al Everitt, Roy Hefter, Marie Wieder.

Crayon Colors

The bright, clear colors of school crayons are copied in the decoration of a dining room, furnished with wheat-color peasant furniture. The wall is a gay yellow, bound by blue ceiling moldings and baseboard, the carpet, a brisk red and blue design.

Fluorescents More Popular

Lamps over dressing tables and bathroom mirrors sometimes throw out so much heat that it is uncomfortable to remain close to them for long periods; because of this, fluorescent lighting is becoming more and more in use.

Fluorescent lighting is cool, permitting a higher level of illumination without a corresponding rise in temperature.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Made to order for standing around rural election polls, just talking, yesterday was. Oh politics, of course, but somehow with the forsythia and the cherry blossoms, the tulips and the bleeding hearts all around you, even politics seemed to have lost its sting.

Almost expected the birds, doing airy arabesques, to be carrying blue ribbon streamers reading "Ever Thine" in pairs the way they used to on the old picture cards. It was that kind of day.

Even the election-night audience outside kept strolling off and the sight of maple leaves big enough to cast a shadow from the street lamps seemed for the moment as important as the figures on the chart.

But back to your picture post cards—how about framing the garden on the corner of Starbird and South Courtland—or the tulip beds next to the Court House—or those two trees just over the iron railroad bridge on Bradeside—the one a golden yellow locust (I think) and the other a red maple that always are so satisfying to the eye.

It's such a sudden Spring that it's caught us unprepared no doubt—without the glaze of indifference that we mostly allow to dull the impact of beauty enough so that we can go on our practical ways without always crying "Oh, Look!"

Listen To Bobby Westbrook daily, Monday through Friday, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

Flowers Chief Project Of 4-H Club

The organization of the local 4-H Club this year started off with a bang at the first meeting last Thursday, April 17, at the home of the new president, Susan Wicks. 4-H slides and movies through the courtesy of Mr. J. Connolly were enjoyed by the members.

This aided the new group in deciding on the adoption of flower cultivation as their chief project with some ambitious individuals selecting strawberry and vegetable growing, as well as the raising of turkeys in addition to their flowers.

Members attending the first meeting were as follows: Barry Repsher, Grace LaBadie, Robert Posten, Evelyn Marks, Zandy Wicks, Joyce Weist, Susan Wicks, Jim Terrill and Sandra Edelman.

Election of officers was held with the following results: president, Susan Wicks; vice-pres., Zandy Wicks; sec'y., Joyce Weist; treas., Evelyn Marks; song leader, Joyce Weist; game leader, Jim Terrill; news reporter, Sandra Edelman; refreshment chairman, Robert Posten.

Refreshments and games were enjoyed immediately after the meeting, with the group looking forward to the May 15 meeting at which time they will complete plans for getting their project in full swing.

Widow Of Long-Time Pastor Recalls Early Days Of Church

Middle Smithfield—Stories of the early days of women's work in the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church going back almost to its beginning were brought out at the April meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the church held at the manse on Wednesday.

Marking the sesquicentennial of women's work in the Presbyterian church at large, the program featured Mrs. Alice Blackwell, of Waterbury, Conn., whose late husband, Rev. Alvin Blackwell was pastor of the local church from 1892 to 1932.

Mrs. Blackwell was brought down from Waterbury by the program chairman, Mrs. Edith Cortright and Mrs. Gene Hallett who motored up to get her. She was presented with a corsage of roses by the president, Mrs. Dora Hallett, on behalf of the group.

Mrs. Blackwell, in addition to her own personal recollections of many years of active service with the local organization, went back even further into the history of the local church through a letter she read from Mrs. Myra Ammerman, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Ammerman is the daughter of an even earlier pastor, Rev. Van Allen, and was closely connected with the women's society, having served as its secretary for many years. Her letter recalled early members and activities.

The history of the local women's work was woven into the pattern of the larger background. Mrs. Lois Crossan, in the opening devotions, selected Scripture readings describing women of Christian faith and character and paid her personal tribute to the Christian Women and their heritage of missionary work.

After a Bible study period conducted by Mrs. Mary Sloat, members of the society gave the background of National Women's Work from 1892 to 1950, and through the information submitted by Mrs. Adelaide Tait, president of Lehigh Presbyterian, of the Presbyterian work from 1879 to the present.

At the close of the program refreshments were served by Mrs. Nellie Mosier, Mrs. Evelyn DeWitt and Mrs. Doris Smith to members and guests. Visitors were: Mrs. Alice Blackwell, Mrs. Sarah Miller, Mrs. Margaret Clark, Mrs. Ruth Warner and Mrs. Ella Treible.

Sunday School Workshop For District 3

John R. Wilson, of the county association, will speak to the teachers of intermediate pupils, while Herbert Bellairs will speak to Sunday school superintendents and those interested in adult work.

All Sunday school teachers of the district are asked to take part in the discussion and questions. Members of other Sunday schools in the surrounding areas will also be welcome.

Rev. LeRoy Bernard, of the Tannersville Methodist church, will lead the devotional period.

Hughes Printing Co. Owners Write Own Horatio Alger Success Story

The seventh of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in such production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

Horatio Alger's success story has a close parallel in the Hughes Printing Co., 34 N. Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, which has grown from a small one-linotype plant to one of the major contributors to the industrial development of the Stroudsburg within a period of 40 years.

Hard work, perseverance and the ability to foresee the future on the part of the founder, George C. Hughes, and his children, have paid dividends for the company — now recognized as among the best commercial printing houses in the country.

Started on a "shoestring" back in 1912 by their father, the Hughes family has advanced in great strides and today pays 450 employees over $1,500,000 a year.

Back in 1912 with just one linotype machine in operation, and plugging away 24 hours a day, even Sundays, the returns reached the grand total of from 10 to 25 cents a week, depending on how good business was.

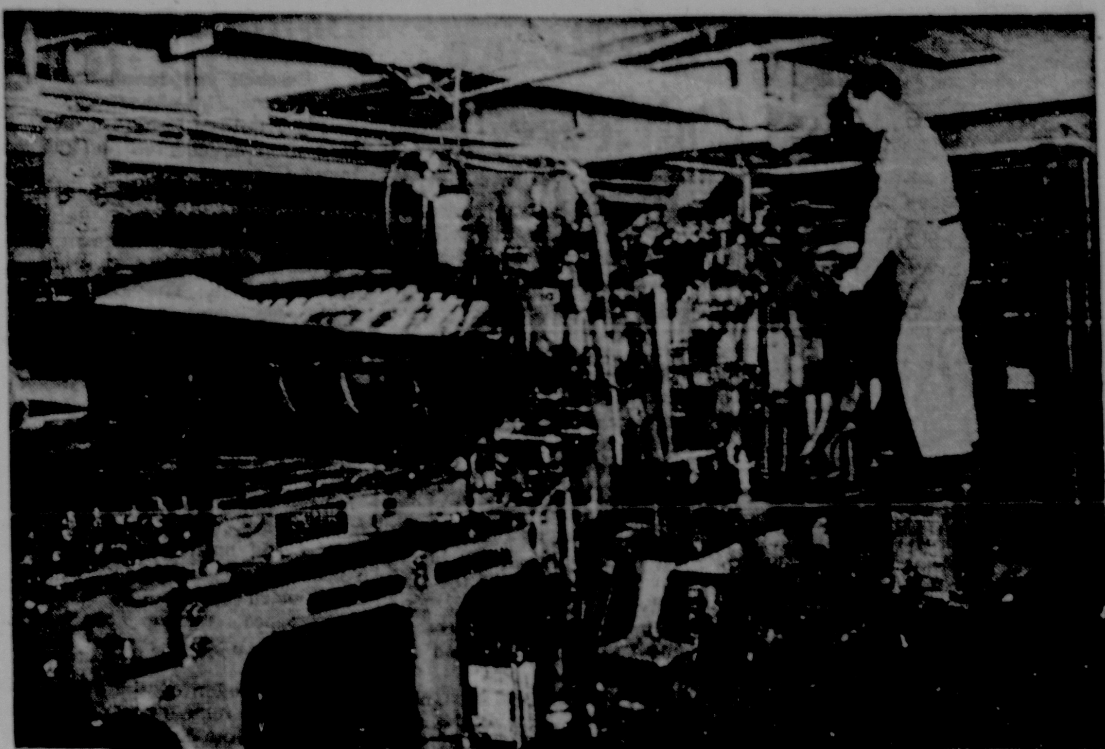

It was a spring afternoon in 1910 when George Hughes walked through the door in the old Jeffersonian plant and said he was ready to buy the paper. Interests in the Jeffersonian were held by several men who relinquished willingly. It was the birth of the Press Publishing Co. which later moved to East Stroudsburg, May 13, 1912, and appeared as the first East Stroudsburg daily paper.

Advertising space sold for five cents an inch and the one linotype machine in operation soon had help with the purchase of a machine from the InterType Corp. one of the first machines to appear on the market.

After the paper changed hands and reverted again to the Hughes interests, commercial printing soon became the biggest revenue raiser, and in 1924 the paper was sold to a brokerage firm and then to Monroe Publishing Co.

By this time the publication of magazines had grown considerably and in 1930 a new building was constructed. At that time 200 employees drew salaries totaling approximately $300,000 annually and the business was valued at about $1,000,000. Today, with the purchase of many new presses, intertype machines, etc., the value of the plant has grown considerably and two more buildings house the enormous facilities.

Acquired to handle the augmented business were the former post-office building and L. D. Sopher Co. property adjoining the original structure. A storage building also is located in Stroudsburg and a garage was built to accommodate four trucks the concern uses.

Presently there are 16 intertype machines and 36 presses in operation year-round. Ten of the presses print two colors and press runs are as high as 50,000. Three shifts are in operation in the press room and two each in the composing and bindery departments and because of the far-sightedness of the owners, the operation remains constant. Even during the depression years, in the early '30s, few days were lost due to lack of work.

Starting in 1921 with one magazine, the Hughes family enlarged their sales department, located in New York City, and today prints between 80 and 100 journals and trade magazines monthly. Some publications are weekly, others semi-monthly and several are annual.

Two shifts of proof readers, about 15 employees, make copy corrections and a unique system has been set up between East Stroudsburg and New York to maintain steady contact with customers. A teletype machine is in operation, used principally to catch corrections requested at the final minute before press time.

Messenger service also speeds copy to the customer in New York. Proofs of the publications are rushed by personal messenger to the service headquarters in New York where another staff of 20 messengers disperses the copy to various customers. A truck also makes daily trips to the city to carry completed copy in large volume, and return with materials and orders. A business office also is maintained in New York to continue the steady traffic flow.

While the names of the journals printed here are not too widely recognized by the layman, among those that might "strike home" are: "Mill and Factory," a Converter-Mast publication; "Waring Enterprises," "Music Journal"; "Plumbing and Heating Business," official publication of the National Association of Master Plumbers; "American Artist," which rated among the top 50 trade magazines editorially and typographically in the nation in 1950; and ten journals for the Haire Publishing Co.

Another magazine, "Paper Trade Journal" has been printed by the Hughes Co. for 25 years. Many others also have long been associated with the local printing house.

Some magazines published use a carload of paper, and because the paper shipments to the plant are so huge, a railroad siding in the rear of the building is used to bring the paper to the door.

About 60,000 tons of ink are used annually to complete the jobs and the presses using various colors can take up to 13 different shades on one job. An example of this is the many shades used to make up pattern books, a monthly publication, which goes to retail stores for deposit on counters where womenfolk may enjoy a wide selection.

Most employees at the plant have been trained by the company. One of the oldest employees, Giles H.

Burlingame, came here from Scranton and was able to do everything from setting ads on the newspaper to turning the big press with a monkey wrench on the flywheel. Today he is foreman of the stone shop. Several other workers have been with the Hughes firm for 20 to 25 years.

When the company bought the Sopher building, they reinforced all floors with heavy steel beams and now store their supplies on the first and third floors; the middle one is used as the bindery department.

Situated adjoining the postoffice, transportation of the finished publications for mailing is no problem, and because the mailing is exceptionally heavy is one of the reasons why the East Stroudsburg postoffice ranked 19th in volume in the state last year.

Interests in the firm is held by the Hughes family. Russell C., who lives in Stroudsburg and has his office in New York, is president; Lucy B. Hughes is vice president; Edwin B. is secretary and general manager and Helen C. Hughes is treasurer. Another brother, Carl, died a number of years ago.

Growth of this large concern comes decisively a careful, well planned program by the late George Hughes and his children, accomplished only after many years of arduous work. But today Hughes Printing Co. stands out prominently as one of the industrial leaders in the Stroudsburgs and the huge payroll, over $1,500,000, is evidence alone of the part it plays economically for the area.

Revision Of School Grade System Urged

State Department of Public Instruction officials are currently encouraging school boards throughout the Commonwealth to revise their marking systems to allow a more equitable report on the progress of individual students.

Educators for many years have recognized the fact that each student's learning capacity is different from that of his neighbor—in many cases the old system does not take this into account.

As most adults who now have children will remember, in the "old days" a student was marked on the basis of his relationship with the rest of the class in the amount of knowledge gained during the marking period.

While this system may have provided an indication of which student in the class had learned most from the textbooks used in his classes, it failed completely to take into consideration such matters as his psychological adjustment to other students and ability to participate in extra-curricular activities.

Among the widening group of enthusiasts for a more comprehensive method of marking is Orren R. Wagner, elementary education chief in Pennsylvania.

"With the conventional type report card," Wagner says, "every child is expected to do the same work and is graded along with the most intelligent and receive a 'D'. This is required of the child with low ability in spite of a difference in aptitudes and abilities."

The department emphasizes the belief that academic growth is "only one part of the student's (overall) growth" and that many other factors should be taken into consideration.

Paul Cressman, director of instruction, points out the importance of participation by parents in the changing of report systems.

"The schools," Cressman said recently, "belong to the people. Parents should share in the planning of proper report cards just as they should share in other phases of the school program."

According to Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas, however, changes in the system of marking used by individual schools must be made by local school boards because they control that phase of their school program.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Ray Steele picked up yesterday right where he left off last season, as the strong armed right hander fanned 16 Hellertown batters in posting a 5-1 victory for East Stroudsburg. In the latter's first Lehigh-Northampton League outing of the present campaign. Although 16 strikeouts is something to become excited about, the factor that struck this column as the most important in yesterday's mound performance was that Steele didn't give up a single base on balls, although he did hit one batter with a pitch slightly off center.

Steele also gave a great demonstration of hitting, blasting out a home run and a pair of important singles in five trips to the plate. It's been performances of this nature during the past two years that have virtually every major league scout in the business knocking on the lanky right-hander's door. It has also brought attractive college bids from such outstanding schools as Syracuse, Muhlenberg, Lehigh, Lafayette and Moravian. The kid is in the enviable position of not knowing which way to turn, as far as a professional baseball contract or a free college education is concerned.

The colleges aren't interested in Steele as a baseball player alone, but also have cast anxious eyes on the Bushkill lad's basketball record of the past two campaigns. Steele received honorable mention on the All-Pennsylvania Scholastic basketball team selected by the Associated Press recently. Ray campaigned with Pocono A. C. during the Blue Mountain League season in 1951 and finished hostilities as the second best hurler in the circuit, although only 17 years-of-age. The opposition last summer was often twice Steele's age, with four times his experience. Latest reports indicate that Steele will be back with Pocono A. C. this summer, if he doesn't ink a professional contract.

Speaking of the Blue Mountain League brings to mind the fact that Art Novagratz, catcher with Roseto during the early stages of last season, is now playing right field for Moravian. Rumors are making the rounds concerning the fact that Fred "Benny" Leonard is about to resign as football coach at Pen Argyl High to take a position under head coach George "Sammy" Moyer, at Phillipsburg High. However, as mentioned above, these reports are strictly in the rumor stage.

Anamolink's entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League will hold an Oyster and Baked Ham supper at the Anamolink POS of A Lodge Hall on Saturday. All proceeds from the affair will be used to finance the club during the coming campaign. A good turnout for the scheduled affair will go a long way toward assuring Anamolink of a successful season.

Chestnut Hill High will sport new uniforms when the Monroe County League opens its season tomorrow. The uniforms have been donated to the school by Irvin Altman and Sons, automobile dealers in the Brodheadsville area. Coach Otto "Junior" Mills and his Chestnut Hill contingent will be in quest of their third straight league title and fourth in the past five years. The only time Chestnut Hill's string of victories was snapped was three years ago, when the Millmen lost in a special playoff to Pocono High.

Speaking of the Monroe County League brings to mind the fact that all circuit games will get underway at 2 p. m., with the exception of contests held at Barrett. Games at Barrett will get underway at 3 p. m. Rev. Ernest T. Campbell and Rev. Hubert Newton, of the Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap Presbyterian Churches respectively, were among those baseball fans watching the New York Giants take the measure of the Phillies, 4-1 last night. Campbell undoubtedly was overjoyed with the result, as he is probably the number one supporter of the Polo Grounders in this area.

Three assists and a putout on one play is slightly irregular, but it occurred during yesterday's East Stroudsburg-Hellertown baseball game. Don Cawley, Hellertown catcher, tripled far over George Little's head in right field. Little raced into the distant portion of the outfield, overtook the ball and threw to center fielder Marlin "Ducky" Marz, who moved over to right field. Marz in turn tossed to first baseman John "Juice" Arst in the cut-off position. Arst threw to catcher Leon Alberts, who in turn blocked Cawley from the plate and made the putout.

Ed Ross, former southpaw hurler with Mahanoy City and Nazareth, when the North Atlantic league was still in session, was sought by Frank Radler, before the former Stroudsburg pilot took over his new managerial duties at Union City, Tenn., in the class "D" Kitty League. However, Ross wouldn't sign a contract and is not on the Union City roster at the present time.

East Stroudsburg Gains Nod Over Hellertown, 5-1

Steele Retires 16 Batters On Strikes

Hellertown—East Stroudsburg High School opened the 1952 Lehigh-Northampton League pennant dash with a 5-1 victory over Hellertown High here yesterday, mainly on the strength of the pitching and hitting of Ray Steele, senior right handed twirler. Steele retired 16 batters via the strikeout route, didn't give up a free pass and hit only one batter with a pitched ball.

In addition to the outstanding pitching performance, Steele, who is the target for several major league talent scouts, contributed a home run and a pair of singles to the East Stroudsburg offense, in five trips to the plate. The lanky hurler made three of eight hits credited to the Cavaliers.

The Cavaliers opened the scoring in the second inning, when Harold Litts drew a life on an error, went to third as Harold White and John "Juice" Arst drew walks and scored on a squeeze bunt by Don France.

However, Hellertown came right back to even the count in the bottom of the same frame, when the home team bunched two of its three hits, with a costly passed ball in the middle.

Circuit Smash
Steele unloaded his home run into right field, a 350-foot blast, in the top of the third to give the Cavaliers a lead they never relinquished. The bases were empty.

East Stroudsburg came back to pick up two more markers in the seventh. Marlin "Ducky" Marz drew a walk and raced to third on Steele's single. Both runners crossed the plate on Leon Alberts' double. However, Alberts was out trying to stretch the blow into a triple.

The visiting contingent completed its scoring in the top of the ninth, as Marz again walked, raced to third once again on Steele's third hit, a single, and scored on a liner to center by Harold Litts, which in turn was dropped by the flycatcher.

Except for the second frame Steele was never in danger of being scored on, as only two men in the Hellertown lineup were capable of hitting safely.

The Cavaliers return to the Lehigh-Northampton League wars on Friday, when a strong Parkland club makes its appearance at the East Stroudsburg Playground.

Dodgers Sweep Pair From Braves

Brooklyn (A) — Chris Van Cuyk and Preacher Roe left-handed the Brooklyn Dodgers to a sweep of their twilight doubleheader with the Boston Braves last night, 2-1 and 3-1 before 25,002 fans.

Big Blow
Duke Snider's two-run double in the sixth inning won the second game after Roy Campanella's single in the last of the ninth broke up the opener.

Roe and Jim Wilson locked in a real battle in the second game, tied 1-1 going to the sixth. Another Cox double, a walk to Robinson, Campanella's sacrifice and Snider's double off the right field screen gave the Brooks their third winning runs.

Reds Spoil Mizell's Debut For Cardinals

Cincinnati (A) — Two walks and one booming triple by Joe Adcock wrecked the major league pitching debut of Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell last night and the Cincinnati Reds took a 2 to 1 decision from the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the fourth straight Redleg triumph.

The game was marked by a third-inning fust in which Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cardinals and shortstop Solly Hemus were banished from the game. Hemus was bounced for protesting a third strike.

Shoving Match
Stanky was tossed out after he and Umpire Scotty Robb got into a shoving match as the Card boss protested Hemus' banishment.

Stanky claimed after the game that he did not shove Robb. He said he accidentally brushed the umpire while gesturing. He declared Robb then shoved him. Other players finally helped restore order.

Giants Decision Phillies, 4-1

Philadelphia (A) — A third inning triple by Bob Thomson with the sacks loaded was the telling blow as the New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-1, last night. Righthander Larry Jansen scattered eight Philadelphia hits and outlasted a pair of Phillies hurlers, starter Russ Meyer and reliever Jim Konstanty.

The lone Philadelphia tally came in the eighth inning on a homer by Willie Jones.

Helps Cause
Winning hurler Jansen aided his own cause in the Giants' big third frame. Catcher Wes Westrum led off with a single to left. Jansen then laid down an intended sacrifice bunt and both runners were safe as Eddie Waitkus made a late throw to second.

Dave Williams hit a blooper single down the third base line and the bases were loaded. Whitely Lockman lined to Jackie Mayo and the Phillies' outfielder made a perfect throw in to prevent a score.

Thomson then stepped up to the plate and tripled past Richie Ashburn to send Westrum, Jansen and Williams home.

The fourth New York run came in the sixth inning. "Hank" Thompson singled, stole second and then went home on Alvin Dark's single to left.

ESSTC Baseball, Tennis Squads See Action Today

Baseball and tennis take over the center of the stage at East Stroudsburg State Teachers College today, when the Warriors play host to Rider College in both sports. It will make the first time this season that the baseball club and the men's tennis squad have played on the home terrain.

Both host teams opened their respective seasons last Saturday with victories over Kutztown State Teachers College, on the latter's home grounds. The ESSTC diamond contingent won by a 7-4 count, while the tennis forces came through with a 5-4 decision.

Today's tennis match is scheduled to get under way at 2:30 p. m., while the baseball action is carded for one-half hour later.

Wayne County Conference Forms Plans

Honesdale — Representatives of member schools of the Wayne County Basketball Conference meeting here recently adopted the Rocky Mountain Point system to determine the conference champion, the new method to be used beginning with the 1952-53 season.

The loop also adopted the 1952-53 schedule as prepared by Paul T. Ryder, president, and William Beddoe, secretary and formulated a new plan for the assignment of officials for conference games.

Inasmuch as the number of games played by the nine conference teams varies from 10 to 16, it was felt that a system that takes into consideration both the number of games played and the "class" of the opponent would result in more equitable rankings. The loop winner has been determined strictly on a percentage basis during the past three seasons.

Officials

Officials will be assigned by two organizations in the Lackawanna Valley, the Central Board and the Mid-Valley Basketball Association. The former will take care of the needs of the home contests of Greene-Dreher-Sterling, Moscow, Lake Township and Hawley while the latter will assign whistle-toters for games played in Honesdale, Waymart, Damascus, Pleasant Mount and Northern Wayne.

No official will be allowed to work more than one game on any school's floor except in cases where weather and driving conditions interfere. Two appearances on any floor will be the absolute limit.

Clearview Wins Over Smithfield

Clearview School fought back from an 11-0 deficit to win a soft-ball game against Smithfield School here yesterday, 12-11, scoring all its runs in the last three frames. The winning club tallied three times in the fifth, six in the sixth and three in the bottom of the seventh.

Hurlers

The winning team trailed 11-0 midway in the fifth frame. However, Miller relieved Charley Gussert in this frame and blanked Smithfield the remainder of the distance. Ken Alberts pitched the distance for Smithfield.

Alberts homered in the first with one on, while Calvin Frantz and Russell Hooley, hit for the circuit for Clearview in the fifth and sixth respectively, with the sacks unoccupied.

"HOUSE BY THE RIVER"

Louis Hayward — Jane Wyatt

Lee Bowman

The Lord Chancellor took his seat on the woolpack at half past two. One might wonder why he sits on it so persistently over the years and why the House of Lords continue to sit in solemn session since its powers are chiefly concerned with recommending and retaining legislation. On second thought, however, one realizes that both are invaluable functions as the history of nations has proved.

The refurbished chamber of the House of Lords with its vaulted ceiling decorated with gold-gilted murals and its new red leather seats is as resplendent and as rich as a precious jewel.

In this elegant setting, the House of Lords discussed the 1952-1953 naval estimates and related items. Viscount Hall said that this year's estimates represent a continuation of the naval program started and approved by the Labor Government, even including the much criticized appointment of the American supreme commander of the Atlantic.

He referred to American publications which described a gigantic atomic-powered submarine, one of which was now being built. Some United States naval planners said that, just as the carrier superceded the battleship, so might this dreadnought of the deep become the most important ship of the future. It was necessary that there should be the closest co-operation in this development between the United States and Britain.

Earl Howe thought that since naval aviation had become an integral part of the service, all naval officers should have a certain amount of flying experience.

Lord Winstone spoke most fervently when he proclaimed, "No worse service could be rendered to this country and the world today than that represented by the anti-American bias and prejudices of certain members of Parliament. We hope that our American friends realize that these people represent a negligible minority of public opinion in this country."

The Earl of Birkenhead, Lord-in-Waiting, said that the Admiralty was fully "seized" of the importance of nuclear fission for the propulsion of submarines and other warships, and although perhaps Britain is not so far forward as the United States, much attention was being devoted to it and it was hoped eventually that Britain would not be lagging so far behind. Britain is pooling its knowledge with the United States, and research developments here are being co-ordinated with the Americans.

Soviet submarines are known to be stationed in the Pacific, the Black Sea and with the northern fleets.

Their Lordships rose at 7. We rose at 4.30 when the Lords recessed for tea, a daily rite for everyone in England from the Lords in Parliament to the Boots in our hotel.

House Of Lords Comments On Atomic-Powered Sub United States Is Building

Editor's Note: Following is the third in a series of reports from Britain and Europe by Keith Hatter Ottaway, mother of James H. Ottaway, publisher of The Daily Record. The writer is an experienced journalist and traveler and her reports from abroad in recent years have received a favorable reception by Record readers.

By Keith Hatter Ottaway

London—Ancient Westminster Palace, Westminster Abbey and Westminster Bridge with "old Ben" standing guard in Westminster Tower tolling out its deep-toned "All is well" every 15 minutes are to us the very heart of London and Britain. We could not leave without slipping into the House of Lords just once (after receiving the proper invitation).

The Lord Chancellor took his seat on the woolpack at half past two. One might wonder why he sits on it so persistently over the years and why the House of Lords continue to sit in solemn session since its powers are chiefly concerned with recommending and retaining legislation. Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked squares give you.

Edwards Elected Delegate

Tops Ruyak, Gains One Of Delegate Posts

Attorney Harold C. Edwards, Stroudsburg, upset an effort by Paul Ruyak, Bethlehem insurance and real estate man, to take one of the 15th District delegates to Democratic National Convention to Northampton County. Monroe Democrats did the trick.

Battling with odds of Bethlehem's powerful registration outweighing the total registration of Monroe and Carbon Counties, the two other counties which with Northampton make up the 15th district, Edwards won the right to go to a Democratic national convention for a second time.

Under party rules, Monroe was to have one of the delegate posts. Northampton, because of its size, always gets one delegate with the other rotated between Carbon and Monroe.

In 1948, Ruyak broke in and drove the Carbon man out of his turn, strictly on Bethlehem's heavy registration. Yesterday, Ruyak failed to repeat.

Attorney Everett Kent, Bangor, a former congressman, easily won the other delegate post for the 15th District.

Here is the vote with Carbon complete, 123 out of 125 precincts of Northampton and 27 out of 34 of Monroe's precincts.

Edwards	Ruyak	Kent
4,328	5,310	5,396
Carbon	1,017	647
Monroe	1,382	322
Total	6,725	6,179

Living Costs Up Slightly

Washington (AP) — The government chalked up another rise in the cost of living yesterday, the first in three months, but the increase was small.

The consumers price index, compiled by the Bureau of Labor Statistics, rose one-tenth of one point, or less than one-tenth of one percent. Despite the rise the index was one-half of one percent below the all-time high reached last December and January.

Yesterday's index reflected consumer prices for goods and services as measured in mid-March, the index always being a month late.

The bureau's "new style" index reached 188.8 per cent of the 1935-39 average, or 1.9 per cent above a year ago and 10.5 per cent above the pre-Korean level. The "old" index was 188.4. The bureau maintains the two separate index systems, using slightly different sets of items for pricing purposes.

The "old" index is the one employed in many labor contracts to change worker wage rates according to living cost fluctuations. Few contracts were affected by yesterday's index, however.

New White House Thrown Open For Public Inspection

Washington (AP) — The reconstructed White House opened its doors to the public for the first time yesterday and a crowd of 5,544—from Dubuque, Ia., Tehran, Iran, and points between—flocked in for a look.

General reaction: The executive mansion looks wonderful in its new $5,700,000 decor.

Besides the blue room, yesterday's visitors saw the green and red rooms, the east room, the state dining room and caught glimpses of other parts of the White House before leaving by the north portico.

From now on, the White House will be open to the public Tuesdays through Saturdays from 10 a. m. until noon.

Mighty Atomic Blast Causes No Harm To 1,500 Soldiers Huddled Only 3½ Miles Away

Atom Bomb Site, Nev. (AP) — An atom bomb, its searing heat and blast of unusual ferocity, was exploded yesterday as 1,500 troops huddled in foxholes along an atomic warfare "battlefront."

The soldiers were unhurt by the mighty explosion, proving that foxholes can shelter men from even the world's most destructive weapon. Seconds after the explosion of the bomb, dropped from a B-50 and detonated at 3,500 feet only about 3½ miles from the troops, the soldiers and the generals who were with them stood up and laughed.

These men were nearer than humans had been, except in heavy concrete bunkers—and except for the people of Hiroshima and Nagasaki who saw the bomb closer and died.

Lt. Gen Joseph M. Swing, one of three generals in the foxholes was flown back to the observers' post to report. He said:

"The young men were laughing and cracking jokes. They are confident that ordinary fortification can protect them."

Swing, Sixth Army Commander, his coveralls gray with the dust that blanketed the troops in a tremendous cloud as the explosion hammered the desert floor, said that "The worst that most of us got was a mouthful of dirt."

The explosion, in the crystal clear air of Nevada under a deep blue and cloudless sky, was a pictorial wonder. In the seconds immediately after the blast, with its accompanying unearthly brilliant light, a gigantic smoke ring floated upward over ground zero. Seashell colors—pink, salmon, cream, —tinted it.

Below, the picture was more grim. Spurts, then plumes, then a vast cloud of dust spreading out to a diameter of about three miles, welled up—an ugly gray, turning to almost black. It blotted from view the thin line of troops in their foxholes and fortifications. In the still air it lingered for almost half an hour before lifting and moving slowly off. To the superficial view of observers without instruments, the size of the fireball in the explosions seemed to be about that of the Bikini air drop six years ago. But the thermal effect of the explosion and the area and power of its blast seemed much greater.

Fires in equipment and construction located as much as two or three miles from the air burst were started by the instantaneous flash of the bomb.

Prison Mutineers Purge Ranks Of Six Dissenters

Jackson, Mich. (AP) — Quarrling mutineers purged their ranks of dissenters last night in a grim-siege at riot-torn Southern Michigan Prison.

Six convicts, apparently wavering in the mutiny that began Sunday night, were thrown out of cell block 15. This is the disciplinary block where 173 diehards are making their last stand.

Peifly Wins Nomination

Bangor—Clair Peifly, one of this community's outstanding citizens, was one of the three Republicans nominated for representative in the General Assembly on the basis of complete, unofficial returns in Northampton County.

Peifly polled top vote of 5,920. Other winners of GOP nominations were J. A. Ide, Easton, 5,886 and Henry E. Ragot, Easton, 4,386.

There were five seeking the nomination on the Republican ticket.

Eight sought three Democratic nominations. Winners were:

Joseph Pocchioli, Bethlehem RD 1, 3,258 votes; James L. Gaffney, Easton, 2,984; J. F. Prendergrast, 2,944.

Second Flier Found Guilty

Washington (AP) — The Air Force announced yesterday that Capt. Carl J. Izard, 34-year-old navigator, has been convicted of feigning illness to avoid flying and has been sentenced to dishonorable discharge.

It was the second conviction reported so far in 14 cases of airmen who have gone on so-called "sit-down strikes" against flying.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, air chief of staff, told a news conference that a majority of the cases involved much more "fear of combat than fear of flying."

Vandenberg said it was quite understandable that "a lot of people would rather be in Central Park with the flowers than in combat."

231 Convicts End Revolt

Rahway, N. J. (AP) — A haggard band of 231 convicts—their defiance dissipated to meekness—yesterday ended a five-day revolt at Rahway State Prison Farm and freed unharmed eight guards held as hostages.

The abrupt surrender came as the once-scurry prisoners touched a match to a pile of crudely lettered bedsheet signs which had fluttered outside their barricaded dormitory wing during the long siege.

The convicts, who had been holed up for nearly 115 hours, released the prison guards and then gave up to authorities.

One of the guards, as he left the debris-littered second floor wing, said:

"I'm damned glad to be out of there."

The New Jersey State Department of Institutions and Agencies released this statement in Trenton after the mutineers capitulated:

"The settlement includes the same agreement stipulated by the department yesterday, namely a survey of parole procedures and a promise there would be no corporal punishment visited on the inmates who lately barricaded themselves."

These were the two main demands of the convicts.

Titusville First To File Returns

Titusville (AP) — This Crawford County community last night was the first to report complete returns in Pennsylvania's primary election.

With all seven precincts accounted for, Titusville voters gave Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower 945 votes to 85 for Harold E. Stassen, Sen. Robert A. Taft received 80 write-in votes and Gen. Douglas MacArthur two.

On the Democratic side, President Truman received one write-in vote and Sen. Estes Kefauver eight.

Stassen Runs Poor Second, Taft Third

Philadelphia (AP) — Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower rode a tide of Republican ballots to a landslide popularity victory in Pennsylvania's presidential primary last night.

But Sen. Robert A. Taft, a straggling third on write-in votes had asked his supporters not to vote for him in the preference poll. He was battling the general on about even terms in a clash of opposing slates for eight national convention delegates from the Pittsburgh area.

Eisenhower, whose name was on the preference ballot along with that of former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota, spread-eagled his field of opponents by a more than four-to-one margin.

The GOP count, from 4,266 of 8,421 precincts, gave:

Eisenhower	413,388
Stassen	54,005
Taft	49,135

In the Democratic popularity contest, Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee continued his primary-winning ways. In a race where no names were on the ballot and all votes were write-ins, Kefauver outdistanced his nearest opponent, President Truman, who said he isn't running.

The count, from 3,439 of 8,421 precincts, was:

Kefauver	11,604
Truman	4,431

On the strength of an appeal from Republican supporters for Democratic write-in votes for Eisenhower, the NATO commander ran third in write-ins with 1489.

This put him ahead of such Democratic candidates as Sen. Robert S. Kerr of Oklahoma and W. Averell Harriman of New York.

He also was in front of Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, who said he isn't running, and Vice President Alben Barkley, who has remained silent.

The Republican delegate race remained clouded, except for the light to be shed on it by the results in the four districts in and around Pittsburgh where the two slates met head-on.

Party leaders plan to keep the 60 delegates elected yesterday, plus 10 at-large previously chosen, largely uncommitted until convention time. However, Eisenhower's tremendous popularity demonstration might weaken that decision.

Democratic leaders also intend to keep their 70-vote delegation uncommitted. But Kefauver's showing gave him a strong bid for their support at the convention.

Eisenhower backers claimed their candidate's showing ought to give him the Republican delegate votes.

Albany, N. Y. (AP) — Friends of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won seven of 11 New York Republican primary contests yesterday, indicating he will receive at least 85 or 90 of the state's 96 votes at the Republican national convention.

Helped By Hannegan

Washington (AP) — James Wacker, a St. Louis lawyer testified yesterday that, thanks to former Postmaster General Robert Hannegan, he got a $25,000 fee for doing "practically nothing" in a 1949 deal involving the sale of five government buildings.

Many Democrats Vote For GOP Candidates

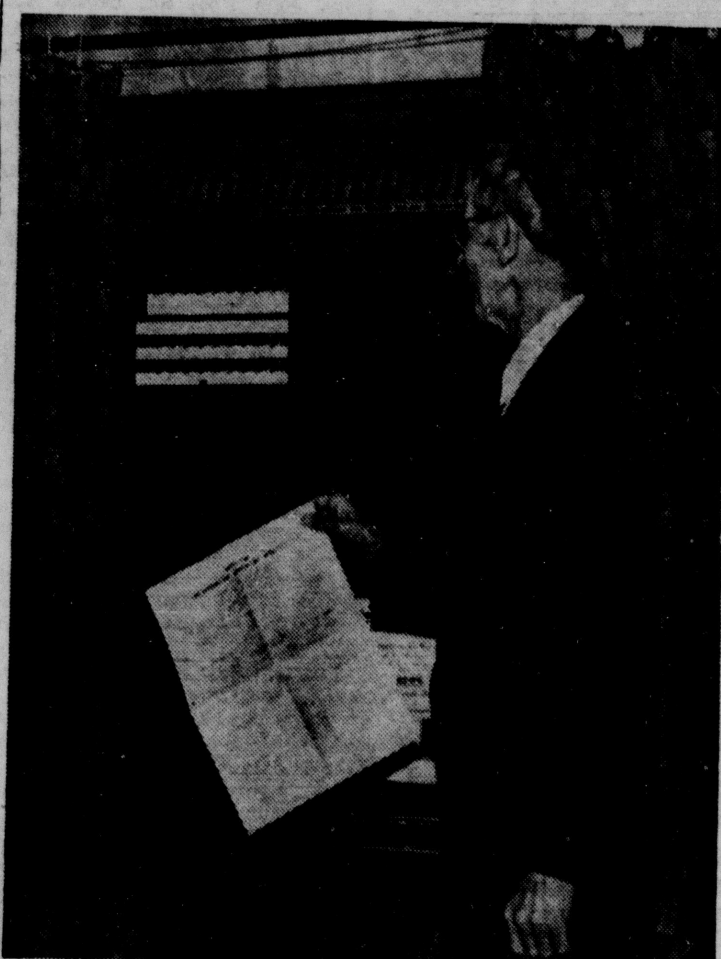

Cross-voting by Democrats for Republican presidential hopefuls was marked in contrast to Republican votes for Democratic possibilities in Monroe County's primary voting.

Here's the way the Democratic returns showed up for GOP possibilities:

Taft, 107; Eisenhower, 392; Stassen, 27; MacArthur, 36 and Warren, eight. These unofficial counts cover 36 out of 84 districts.

Here's the way Republicans voted for Democratic possibilities:

President Truman, one vote; Sen. Kefauver, two votes.

THE OLD AND THE NEW WAY of voting in Monroe County is shown at Stroudsburg's Fourth Ward yesterday with Ora Woodling, judge of election, holding his last paper ballot as he looks over a modern automatic voting machine. The machines will be used for presidential voting in November in both Stroudsburg, Middle Stroud and Smithfield Township. (Daily Record photo)

Critics Of Steel Seizure Fail By Slim Margin To Push Ban Through Senate

Washington (AP) — Senatorial critics of President Truman's seizure of the steel industry failed by a narrow margin yesterday in a move to deprive him entirely of Federal funds to operate the mills.

In the House, meanwhile, a resolution was introduced to impeach him for the seizure. There were predictions it probably never would come to a House vote.

But the Senate Banking Committee launched a move which may exert more pressure on the administration. It voted to investigate government handling of the steel dispute—and to hold up action meantime on a bill to extend the wage-price controls program.

Since the administration calls the control program vitally necessary, some senators figured the Banking Committee's decision might act as a spur to settle the steel crisis.

The Senate voted, 47 to 29, to take up a proposal to bar the use of any Federal funds for operation of the steel mills, but because a two-thirds vote was needed under the existing parliamentary situation, the move was defeated for the time being at least.

At the other end of Pennsylvania Ave., the President's Mobilization Advisory Committee voted recommendations with regard to the steel dispute but the White House withheld announcement of their nature until today.

However, the 16-man group—made up of equal numbers of members representing the public, industry, labor and agriculture—was reliably reported to have voted on three points:

One—A declaration that the Wage Stabilization Board (WSB) recommendations for settling the steel dispute came within stabilization policies and did not exceed them.

Two—A recommendation that the steel industry be made to justify any departure from existing price stabilization rules if the industry is to get more than a $3-a-ton price boost.

Three—A condemnation of those who have criticized public members of the WSB as being biased in the steel case.

Members of the group indicated there had been some dissent.

Wanger Gets Four Months In Shooting

Santa Monica, Calif. (AP) — Film Producer Walter Wanger yesterday was convicted of shooting the man he believed was the lover of his wife, Joan Bennett.

He was sentenced to four months in county jail by a judge who declared "the law of the six-shooter has gone out of California long ago."

Wanger, grim-faced and gray, agreed with his attorney, Jerry Giesler, that it was a fair verdict. Wanger won postponement of his imprisonment until June 4, so he can wind up business matters and look after one of his daughters, who is in school here.

Wanger's only comment about a possible reconciliation with his wife was a printed statement that he "had great hopes that with this behind, his family will be reunited."

Wanger, 57, was accused of shooting agent Jennings Lang, 39, in the groin after accusing him in a Beverly Hills parking lot Dec. 13. Wanger, married for 12 years to 41-year-old Miss Bennett, told police: "I shot him because he was breaking up my home."

Senate Approves Appropriations

Washington (AP) — The Senate passed by voice vote yesterday a bill providing 976 million dollars for various government agencies to spend between now and July 1. The total in the deficiency measure, as it is called, is eight million more than was approved by the House.

Kefauver High Among Democrats

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower rolled to a three-to-one victory over his nearest opponent—Sen. Robert Taft—in 27 out of 34 districts in Monroe County in yesterday's weak primary voting while Sen. Estes Kefauver drove to a four to one victory over President Harry Truman, his nearest write-in rival.

The Eisenhower swell began with first-reporting Barrett and never stopped. It rode over into the Democratic column with some odd write-in voting which saw Truman invade the Republican ballot. Taft was also a write-in on the Democratic side with Warren, Stassen, and MacArthur.

Voters also went out of their way to express their feelings with write-ins of Kefauver, Stevenson, Russell, Kerr, Harriman and Barkley on the Republican side.

It looked like rebellion on the part of the voters. If the switch of candidates by party voters means anything.

And, legally, it all meant nothing since the delegates who won for both parties are "uninstructed" and can follow the mandate of the voters or not follow it, as the situation may warrant.

In the straight party voting, the Republican preferential race in Monroe County saw Eisenhower roll up a total of 1,393 votes.

Harold Stassen, the only other GOP hopeful whose name was on the ballot collected 154 votes.

Sen. Robert Taft, who said he would not enter the Pennsylvania popularity contest with organized effort, except in Pittsburgh, received 496 votes.

General MacArthur received 33 votes and Governor Warren of California, the "dark horse," if there is such a thing, received five votes.

In the Democratic voting, President Truman received 81 votes to 354 for Senator Kefauver. Governor Stevenson, of Illinois, picked up 12, Senator Kerr of Oklahoma none and W. Averell Harriman garnered seven votes. Vice President Barkley did not receive a vote.

Strict apathy marked the Democratic write-in voting and most of the other voting.

Rep. Francis E. Walter alone stood out as a great vote gatherer in Monroe County. Mr. Walter, unopposed for the nomination, received 1,664 complimentary votes.

Guy K. Bard, seeker of the Democratic nomination for U. S. Senator was defeated here 613 to 855 for G. Harold Wagner. Bard had organization endorsement.

Likewise, the organization endorsed candidate for the auditor general nomination, Genevieve Blatt, lost to E. J. Joseph 526 to 881.

Organization candidates won where contests occurred on the Republican ticket.

Sen. Edward Martin won decisively—1,307 votes to 324 for James P. Scoblick and 249 for Steele Clark for U. S. Senator nomination.

Montgomery for Supreme Court 1,044 to 749. J. R. Craig, Bethlehem, the GOP unopposed nominee for Congress, received a complimentary voting totaling 1,666.

Government Buys Pork To Bolster Sagging Prices

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department bought 12 million pounds of pork products yesterday. It acted under a new program designed to help divert "temporary burdensome surpluses" from the nation's meat market.

Officials said they hope this and additional purchases will help raise producer prices of hogs, which have been at relatively low levels for many months.

The pork will be donated to the government-sponsored school lunch program.

Martin, Bard Lead

Philadelphia (AP) — U. S. Sen. Edward Martin appeared last night to have won renomination in Pennsylvania's Republican primary. Guy K. Bard, of Lancaster, a U. S. district judge, was running far ahead in the contest for the Democratic nomination.

MERCURY BEATS ALL COMERS IN MOBILGAS ECONOMY RUN

3 WINS IN 3 YEARS!

Lincoln Again Best in Class —
Runs Second in Sweepstakes

Now look at Mercury's three-year-in-a-row record in the Mobilgas Economy Run: three out of three times winner in its price class; two out of three times Sweepstakes winner against all cars in every class! Look at Lincoln, too. Lincoln won Class G first prize and provided Mercury's closest competition for top Sweepstakes honors.

The Mobilgas Economy Run is open to all cars of every make. To assure an equal chance for all, regardless of size and weight, ton-miles-per-gallon performance determines the winner.

A 1952 Mercury Monterey Special Custom Sedan with optional overdrive swept the field with 59,718.8 ton-miles-per-gallon, averaging 25.4093 miles per gallon. And the engine that did it is Mercury's famous V-8. The Lincoln Capri Sedan with Hydra-Matic transmission won its class prize with 58,908.5 ton-miles-per-gallon, averaging 22.3562 miles per gallon.

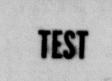

Right now, in our showroom, is a 1952 Mercury similar to the one that won this official, impartial test. Why not stop around and give it a try? No obligation, of course.

*Ton-miles-per-gallon equals the car weight (with passenger, multiplied by miles traveled, divided by gallons of gasoline used.

GRUELING

1,415-MILE

TEST

What a test to prove Mercury and Lincoln superiority! This year's Mobilgas Economy Run covers 1,415 miles from Los Angeles to Sun Valley, Idaho. This longest and toughest test extends from below sea level in Death Valley to 8,010 feet in Arizona mountains. Mercury outperformed all others to win both the grand Sweepstakes prize and Class C 1st place. Lincoln won Class G.

Cleanse Surface, Then Re-Enamel

Before applying a new coat of enamel over a surface which has already been enamelled, wash the surface thoroughly. When the surface has completely dried, go over it carefully with No. 1 sandpaper. This will break the gloss and permit the new coat to adhere without peeling. An enamel undercoat is often applied before the final finish to insure a smoothly uniform surface. When thoroughly dry, this is lightly sanded with 00 sandpaper and then wiped clean.

Lichens are composed of two different plants very closely associated.

Cheap or Dangerous?

The President of the United States told reporters that he has the right to seize the newspapers and radio stations of the nation if he believes such seizure to be in the interest of the community.

The President did not make this comment as a threat, but rather as an answer to a question from a reporter. He may believe, therefore, that he gave an academic answer to an academic question.

Reporters like to ask provocative questions, but the President of the United States is under no obligation to play the role of a stooge to the straight man. He does have an obligation to the country to weight his words for the effect they will have on public opinion.

To be sure, we can conceive of some dire extremity, such as an overwhelming national catastrophe, that might require seizure of all means of communication during the crisis. But we can conceive of no justification for putting forward this claim to executive power.

Yankee Thrift

Economists today are estimating that consumers are saving around 9 per cent of their spending money, income after taxes. And they expect this trend will continue.

At the same time, another report indicates concern in Washington over the cashing of savings bonds and there is talk that the government may be coming up with a new bond plan that will pay a good rate of interest on the early years that such bonds are held, as well as over the 10-year period. And that seems to be a worthy project.

There appears to be no doubt that after the World War II and post-war spending spree, John Q. Public has pulled the strings of his purse a little more tightly, getting back to the Yankee idea of setting aside a little for a rainy day.

Life insurance company statements and bank reports support that conclusion.

There are now 37 life insurance companies in the United States and six Canadian companies, doing business in the United States, with over one billion dollars each of life insurance in force. Much of that insurance has been sold in the last 10 years.

Savings deposits in the nation of Jan. 30, 1952 totalled $61,700,000,000, of which $8,000,000,000 were in commercial banks, $21,000,000,000 were in mutual savings institutions, and $2,700,000,000 were in the postal savings system. And at the end of last year, United States Savings Bonds held by individuals totalled approximately $49,000,000,000.

Adding up just those figures—and there could be a lot more—wraps up a goodly bundle of Yankee thrift.

Human Salvage

"A brilliant man, but we couldn't keep him because he drank too much."

No one knows how many times those words, or others like them, have been spoken by company executives. Alcoholism may be a relatively small personnel problem, in most firms, but it can rob an organization of some of its best men.

All business and industry should be interested in the proposal to establish a clinic for alcoholics. Such clinics, elsewhere, have salvaged many a drinker.

The proposal is being made by Pennsylvania Committee for Education on Alcoholism. It doesn't have the required money, but suggests that the State Legislature, or businesses and industries, might put it up.

They would be saving careers, if not lives.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

New York—The other day I was muttering something about how nice it is to encounter a man or woman who has reached the seventies or eighties without doddering. The next nicest thing of which I can think is to meet a person who has a bad physical handicap but who has stepped all over that handicap and made a place for himself in the world just like a normal person, whatever that is.

I met a man like that today. His name is Victor Ridder and, sitting in the sixth floor of a rickety old building in the shadow of the Brooklyn bridge, he performs the chores of one of America's most influential publishers. He puts out the German-American paper, Staats Zeitung, is vice president of the Journal of Commerce, director of the Catholic News and head of Ridder Publications, Inc.

To all the physically handicapped, all over the world, I would like to commend the words of Victor Ridder—and I quote: "Sure I have a physical handicap. But what of it?"

Mr. Ridder is genteel, genial and not at all coarse, but he is a guy who stands up to adversity and belligerently flicks a wet towel in its face. When he was three years old he contracted tuberculosis of the hip and 40 years later he picked it up in the other hip.

Mr. Ridder is what the phrase-makers call a helpless cripple but if you were to call him that, he'd laugh in your face. With the help of special crutches, he gets around better, does more and enjoys life more fully than any three men you can name. When I met him, he was getting ready to fly to San Francisco for a conference of Catholic chaplains connected with the Boy Scouts, in which he is active.

These days Victor Ridder helps other "helpless cripples" through his work in an organization called Goodwill Industries of New York, which runs an up-town shop employing 160 people who recondition donated merchandise for sale in low-income neighborhoods in Goodwill stores. He's done this for three years and just the other night the organization threw a big dinner at which he received its 1952 Goodwill Award.

I asked him why he does it—why he helps these lame and maimed.

"I figure I was luckier than others," he said. "I came from a well-to-do family—my father founded Staats Zeitung and the Catholic News and we go back five generations, right here in New York—and I had a mother who never wasted any sympathy on me. 'All right,' she told me when I was a boy, 'you have a bad leg. So what?'"

He grinned. "When I was a kid, I was always just about to die," he said. "I never went to school. I stand before you utterly devoid of education. I'd try it for two weeks and they'd send me home for the funeral."

"Until I was 16 I wore a brace. When I was 12 I suffered a stretch of blindness, too, but I have only a vague recollection. When you're young, somehow it doesn't bother you so much." He shook his head. "Now if you were blind and deaf," he said, "I'd say you really were physically handicapped—but you couldn't get Helen Keller to admit that, could you?"

When the T. B. spread to the other hip in 1939, Ridder was laid up a year and a half, with a cast on it for 10 months. When he started outside activity again, he was carried down to the old Zeitung building on a stretcher.

All his life he has been a social worker, starting back when he was 17, at a Catholic Boys' club in the East 80's. He once was chairman of the State Board of

Looking At Life —By Erich Brandeis

Senate and House Investigations have become so common that most of us don't pay much attention to them any more. One crook more or less doesn't seem to make much difference.

But here is one investigation, recently approved by the House Rules Committee, that should get the hearty endorsement of every citizen.

It is an investigation which might eventually raise the moral standards of radio and television.

Rep. Gathings of Arkansas, who proposed the inquiry, told the committee that he is not trying to reform the world.

But, he said, he wants to see what can be done to insure wholesome programs on the air.

He made a survey of six television channels in Southern California for one week, between the hours of 6 and 9 p.m., when most children are looking at the screen.

The results were appalling—and would probably have been just as appalling if he had made the survey on radio.

This is what he found: In that one week there were shown 91 murders, seven stage holdups, three kidnappings, two cases of arson, two jailbreaks, one murder by explosion, and numerous cases of assault and drunkenness.

Heaven knows I am no reformer. As a matter of fact, I must admit that I enjoy a few good murders and holdups on my television set.

There are several of these programs that I wouldn't miss for anything. But I am adult, not a kid in its formative stages.

I guess it's just that there isn't enough "Bing, Bang, Bing" on our every-day lives.

And, after all, it is a little less dangerous to look at a television holdup than to invite Willie "The Actor" Sutton to your house for a little chat. You never know when he'll pull a gun on you.

But if you DID invite Willie

Lattimore forgets. It is amazing, when one reads the transcript of the McCarran Committee's testimony, how much Owen Lattimore could forget. The Johns Hopkins professor had an office in the State Department Building (that is, the old building now used as a White House annex), but he seems to have a foggy notion of how he used it and what he did there.

It is all very unimportant except that Lattimore's defenders have painted a picture of a paragon of virtue who is being abused by Senator Joe McCarthy and Senator Pat McCarran, while he grew a halo around his noble head.

The testimony actually does not read that way. He was asked whether he had had a desk in the State Department. He said, yes. Then this colloquy took place:

"Mr. Morris. Were you a close associate of Lauchlin Currie?"

"Mr. Lattimore. No, I would not say close. My work brought me into considerable contact with him for a very short period."

"Mr. Morris. Did you in fact have an office in the State Department Building with Lauchlin Currie?"

"Mr. Lattimore. I had the use of one room of Mr. Currie's offices in that building."

However, he was living in Baltimore and he only came over to Washington occasionally. It was impossible to get him to say frankly how many days each week he used that room. This is the testimony:

"The Chairman. Answer the question propounded to you."

"Senator O'Connor. It would be accurate to say you used it several times a week over a period of four or five or six months?"

"Mr. Lattimore. Yes."

Now, if you or I were given the convenience of office room in the State Department, we would not only remember it, but we would tell our children and grandchildren about it. But not Owen Lattimore? He took such conveniences in his stride. He testified in both executive session and in the open session that his attendance at that office was "irregular and infrequent."

However, the committee showed him a letter dated June 12, 1942 that he had written to "Dear Mr. Kizer." In that letter he had said:

"My home address is as typed above, and my home telephone is TOWSON 848-W. I am in Washington about four days a week, and when there can always be reached at Lauchlin Currie's office, Room 228, State Department Building; telephone National 1411, extension 90."

Also, Lattimore denied that when Lauchlin Currie was away he opened Currie's mail. Lauchlin Currie was one of President Roosevelt's administrative assistants, and he has been testified about adversely as a foreign agent before this committee. It was Lauchlin Currie who got Roosevelt to appoint Lattimore to be Chiang Kai-shek's adviser. All this is in the record.

So, after Lattimore denied that when Currie was away, he, Lattimore, handled Currie's mail, which ordinarily would have to do with White House business, the counsel for the McCarran Committee confronted the professor with the following letter which he had sent to E. C. Carter, the head of the Institute of Pacific Relations:

"Dear Carter: 'Currie asked me to take care of his correspondence while he is away and in view of your telegram tell you that he has gone to China on a special trip. This news is absolutely confidential until released in the press.'"

Lattimore had forgotten about his opening White House mail which passed over Currie's desk as administrative assistant to the President. All that he could say on the subject was: "Obviously, my memory was inaccurate."

Then, this colloquy followed: "Mr. Morris. That is written on White House stationery, is it, Mr. Lattimore?"

"Mr. Lattimore. Yes, dictated to Lauchlin Currie's secretary."

"Mr. Morris. Are you acquainted with the testimony before this committee that Lauchlin Currie aided an espionage ring in Washington during the war?"

"Mr. Lattimore. No, I don't remember seeing that."

The professor forgot so much! In fact, as one goes through this testimony, it is difficult to discover what Lattimore actually remembered about what he did.

10 Years 20 The Once Over

—By H. I. Phillips

scuttle the United States of America and go for the pitiless arch-enemies of everything for which their country had stood through the years.

"I was taken in by the hard times' version of what might be called the Communist advertising and recruiting technique," you write. "They claimed to have a cure for depression." What was the matter with you? Wasn't there anything in the matchless story of America that advertised the glories of its history? Didn't the recruiting techniques of Uncle Sam, open, above-board, four-square and 100 per cent truthful strike you as preferable over the undercover, conspiratorial techniques of Russia. Wasn't there (on $40 a week in an era when millions were on the dole) anything in the image of Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln that seemed a better advertisement for freedom and justice than the pictures of Lenin and Stalin? You add, "I think it is useful that certain of us had this kind of experience, for otherwise we should not have known Communists so well." Here again you forget the millions who scorned that kind of experience, believing that what they knew about the Communies was plenty.

Oh, well, welcome back. We believe you. All is forgiven. But your explanation, it seems to me, is for piccolo and flute.

Very sincerely, Elmer

Brien MacMahon is out for the Presidency. From Frenchman's Flat to the White House! Well, anyhow, Brien's candidacy will draw the most quips... the one certain to be a "bang-up aspirant"... the fellow who adds an "explosive aspect" to the fight... the candidate who will show the greatest "energy," etc., etc.

"It had been the President's hope that an agreement would be quickly reached in the steel strike," John Steelman, after the seizure. Wanna bet?

Teamaker, a horse nine years old (and which, it seems to us, originally started with Thomas Lipton up), won a race the other day at $22.40. For once Shudda Haddim had a winner. "I knew Teamaker was in the bag and plenty strong," he explains.

Some candidates for the Presidency seem to be flashing. "I Don't Like Opposing Ike" buttons.

High School Boys Battle Forest Fire Threatening Buildings

Pocono Twp. Youth Help Fight Blaze

High school students joined the battle yesterday against the whopping blaze which has already burned off some 3,000 acres in the Big Pocono area.

The alarm went out to Pocono Township Volunteer Fire Co. when the flames threatened the E. C. Arnold farm buildings and the Crescent Lake Hunting cabin shortly before 10 a. m.

The fire company was caught short-handed, with only four men available.

Fire Warden Russell DeHaven went to Pocono Township High School for help. Principal Lawrence Wile gave the OK and volunteers were called for.

The entire male enrollment of the school responded. From the volunteers, 10 were chosen from the junior and senior classes. When the three fire trucks rolled at 10 a. m., the 10 boys were aboard.

Until 5 p. m. they fought back-fires and battled the flames with Indian tanks—driven out by the heat from time to time, but always plunging back in again, DeHaven reported.

To save the farm and cabin, the regular firemen laid a thousand feet of hose and used the booster tank.

"Those boys really saved the day," DeHaven said. He said he believed the buildings would have gone, without the help of the students.

The youths were driven home in time for their Future Farmers of America annual banquet last night.

The fire company from Pocono Manor also battled the flames to protect two threatened buildings on the east and northeast side of the big blaze.

By nightfall, the district forester's office reported the fire "pretty well knocked down," and said he didn't think it would progress very much during the night.

Again it was a question of "wait and see" as far as the fire's activity today. Rain would end it. A dry day and wind would probably beat it into renewed action again.

The fire was started by an incendiary about 6 p. m. Sunday. More than 50 men have been fighting the crawling fireline daily since then.

Richard Spragle Receives Severe Cuts In Accident

Thirty-seven stitches were taken to close gashes suffered by Richard Spragle, 20, of Stroudsburg RD2, after his car snapped off a telephone pole in Stroudsburg early yesterday.

At the General Hospital, a physician took 27 stitches in Spragle's scalp and 10 under his chin. His condition was reported "satisfactory."

West Losing Cold War, Says Weldy

Members of the Service Club Bowling League, attending their annual banquet last night at the Elks club dining room, heard Morton Eugene Weldy, widely-known Philadelphia lecturer discuss "Why We Are Losing the Cold War."

Mr. Weldy was presented by the local Lions Club and was introduced by program chairman William P. Deering.

The Russians, Weldy said, spend immense sums on propaganda while the West spends in a negligible way. The treatment of the Mohammedan nations by the West was also cited as a point in favor of the Russians who either are friendly to the Arabs or avoid alienating them whenever possible.

The accident occurred at 2 a. m. while Spragle was driving his convertible coach toward his home, located near Finner's Greenhouse, west of Stroudsburg on Route 209. The car struck the pole in the 1100 block on W. Main St. The snapped pole remained suspended by two telephone cables fastened to it. There was no interruption of service. The pole was later replaced.

The car was badly damaged, according to Stroudsburg borough police investigators. It was towed to a Stroudsburg garage.

Spragle told officers at the hospital that he had apparently fallen asleep at the wheel.

Only election matter handled by the court yesterday resulted from a clerical error which left the name of Ira Rake, candidate for Republican committeeman in Barrett Township, off the face of a voting machine.

The error was reportedly discovered when Rake, who is unopposed for the post, went to the polls in the morning and found his name missing.

Chief Clerk Harry Taylor petitioned President Judge Fred W. Davis to place the name on the ballot. The petition was granted.

A copy was taken to Judge of Elections John Smith at Barrett Township.

Rake's name was printed on the cardboard strip at the front of the machine, the point under the name was released for use, and from about 11 a. m. on, the vote was tallied automatically by the machine.

Paint Can Make House Look Modern

A new coat of paint, properly selected and applied, can be one of the most effective of all modernization devices. Careful choice of shades can bring to the house effects not thought possible by the average home owner.

In modernizing a home, painting should be high on the list of improvements.

Dark roofs seem to be lower to the ground; if the roof is too high for the length of the house, paint it a dark color.

If the house has shutters, paint the shutters of the upper story the same color as the roof. This will visually bring the roof line lower, as the eye will travel to the bottom of the dark shutters. Paint the remaining shutters the color of the body of the house.

If the roof line is cut up by too many gables, everything about the roof should be dark, and nothing should stick out in color.

Dormers will make a small house seem larger if they are painted on their faces the color of the side wall of the house. This will carry the side-wall color up into the roof and give the appearance of additional height. Dormers on a tall house should be painted the dark roof color. They will visually become part of the roof and not of the side walls, making the house seem lower.

If the chimney is too large for the size of the house, it should be painted the same color as the body of the house to make it appear smaller. With this camouflage, the chimney will blend with the house and will not be noticed.

Where window openings of different sizes disturb the unity of the house's over-all shape, the treatment is painting the openings the same color as the body of the house.

Where a color accent is needed to lower the roof line or draw attention to the first floor, shutters help to achieve this result.

If shuttered windows are of various sizes, remove all smaller shutters and leave only those of the larger and more uniform size.

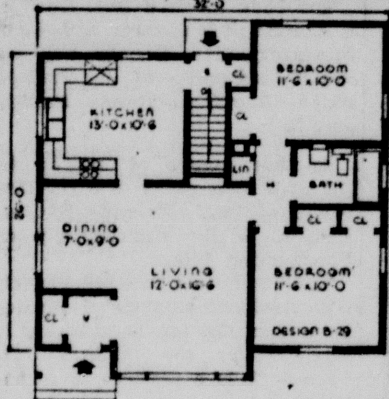

Double Action Doors Improved

Double action doors between kitchen, butler's pantry, and dining room are being included in the plans of many new homes. Older homes may benefit from the same convenience, however, as regular doors may be replaced with those of double action.

Double acting door closers can now be obtained which are concealed in the woodwork over the door. Holdopen features are regarded as standard in most fixtures of this kind. Simple to install and adjust the mechanism is entirely out of sight and no cutting of the floor is said to be necessary.

Cork Tile Makes Good Paneling

Very effective decorative use of cork-tile paneling is possible, home-decorating authorities say, and many different effects may be obtained by the number of tile models available. The cork comes in a variety of handy lengths and is easily applied to the wall surface. Colors run mostly to natural, soft brown tones.

THE BIDFORD features a dining alcove which forms an L-shaped living room. The plan provides cross ventilation and light as well as increased livability of both the dining and living areas in the L-shaped room.

The Bidford is entered through a vestibule equipped with a coat closet. The roof overhanging provides shelter for this entrance door. The kitchen of The Bidford is arranged to eliminate unnecessary steps. It also has ample dining space. A convenient closet is situated at the rear entrance to the kitchen. All of the bedrooms have generous wardrobe space. There is a linen closet in the hall. The low roof lines and large windows give a pleasing appearance to The Bidford, which is set close to the grade. The exterior of the house is finished with siding. The roof is covered with asphalt shingles. Plans call for insulating walls and ceiling.

Dimensions of The Bidford are 32 feet wide and 26 feet deep, with a full basement. It has an area of 905 square feet and a volume of 18,281 cubic feet. For further information about THE BIDFORD, write the Small House Planning Bureau, St. Cloud, Minn.

Many Changes Due In Next Half Century

Stairways will disappear, walls become movable, and floors radiate warmth throughout the day and night in the homes to be built in the next half century. Home construction is due for even more sweeping changes in the next 50 years than in the first 50 of this century, during which such innovations as electric lights, tiled bathrooms, streamlined kitchens and garages became commonplace.

The home of the future will be a place of recreation rather than chores, and the homemaker's working time will be reduced from its present 50 to 60 hours weekly to 40 or less. Smaller homes, to fit smaller families, wider use of such easily cleaned and maintained materials, and air-conditioning or inexpensive systems of dust precipitation will greatly increase Mother's leisure time, the forecast points out.

The one-story type dwelling will be generally adopted in the next 50 years, thus eliminating stairways. Bedrooms will be small, and when the children grow up and leave home, a temporary wall between two bedrooms will be removed to make a single large room, says the forecast.

Thanks to radiant heating, the father of the future will hit a warm, comfortable floor instead of an icy deck when he turns out for baby's 2 a.m. feeding. The floor will be of different materials, too, for clay tile and other products unaffected by constant heat will be universally specified, the forecast points out.

Homes of the future will be sound-proofed, so that the blare of the television receiver or radio won't go beyond a room, says the forecast. And outdoor living space, much talked of today, will be made really practical and comfortable without screens, probably through electrical or chemical methods of repelling insects and bugs.

Porch Roof Can Be Made Sun Deck

It is a simple matter to convert the roof of a porch into a second-floor sun deck, and the improvement would be one that the entire family could enjoy.

A railing around the outer edge of the roof would be necessary. A wooden balustrade would be sufficient, but for a larger and more expensive home a wrought-iron railing may be desirable.

Besides what structural changes may be necessary in the roof itself, all that would remain to be done would be installation of some suitable floor covering and provision of an entrance to the sun deck from the house.

Don't Oil Waxed Floors

Hardwood floors which are wax-coated should be cleaned with a mop or soft brush which is free from oil, as oil has a tendency to soften wax. A cloth wrung from warm, soapy water should suffice to remove the surface dirt. There are certain cleaners which are recommended for removing wax and for removing spots or discolorations from floors before refinishing.

Wyckoff Department Store To Mark 77th Anniversary

Turning back the clock 77 years, A. B. Wyckoff's Department Store tomorrow will open a gala nine-day celebration in honor of its 77th birthday.

A merchandising event, opening at 9 a. m., it will continue until May 3 and during that period promotions will be manifold.

Sears-Roebuck also are joining the celebration, entitling their participation—"Sears Old Timers Days."

Opening day will find many employees attired in the dress that was vogue back in 1875 when the store first was opened. The history of Wyckoff's goes back to 1875, however, for it was then that young Daniel and Jacob Wyckoff loaded merchandise into a rickety Conestoga wagon and headed westward, peddling their wares through the Water Gap to Stroudsburg.

Amzie B. Wyckoff founded the present store and since then the name has become well known in the annals of retail selling.

At 10:30 a. m. tomorrow a parade will form and travel through the Stroudsburgs, affording residents a chance to see how the well-dressed woman of 1875 met the public. In the caravan will be six vehicles, of ancient vintage and these cars will be parked in front of the store for the remainder of the day for the public's inspection.

Tomorrow night, beginning at 6:30 over 130 guests, all customers over 50 years of age, will be feted at a dinner in Wyckoff's tearoom with Ernest H. Wyckoff as the host.

Another attraction arranged by the promotion committee will be the gift of 2,000 pieces of cake to customers and in one will be deposited a diamond worth $87. In 50 other pieces of cake will be capsules and inserted notes will inform the victor they are entitled to a pair of nylon stockings.

All employees of the A. B. Wyckoff, selling agency for Sears, Roebuck and Co. store are playing key roles in the "Sears Old Timers Days" and growing long sideburns, goatees and old time hair-styles to go with costumes to be worn during the event from April 24 through May 3.

An employee board of advisers is directing the affair. James Somers, assistant manager has been named by Henry Kresge, Sears manager to take charge of the store for this annual merchandising event.

Some 100 years of merchandising experience is represented by the planning committee which includes Edward Doran, John Lindstedt, James Detrick, Harold Fehr, Leona Spangler, Howard Mills, William Sanders, Alfred Baxter, Chester Kortright, John Sharbaugh, Jack Pennington, Robert Collins, Justin Feltham, James Farry, Richard Spragle, Earl Fehr, Al Everitt, Roy Hefer, Marie Wieder.

Crayon Colors

The bright, clear colors of school crayons are copied in the decoration of a dining room, furnished with wheat-color peasant furniture. The wall is a gay yellow, bound by blue ceiling moldings and baseboard, the carpet, a brisk red and blue design.

100,123 Books Circulated By Library Here

Book circulation at Monroe County Library last year was 100,123, according to the annual report presented by Mrs. Elizabeth Kane librarian, to the board of trustees meeting Monday night.

Mrs. Kane also revealed there are 6,693 registered borrowers at the present time and the volume on hand is 25,217. She also submitted the secretary's statement, and the report of Miss Lulu Shafer, treasurer was presented.

Highlighting the discussion was the budget increase of $600 granted this year by Monroe County commissioners and applications for children's librarian were considered.

Attending the meeting were Mrs. C. C. Scholla, chairman; Mrs. Elwood Hintze, Mrs. W. D. Palmer, Dr. LeRoy Koehler and Mrs. Kane.

Fluorescents More Popular

Lamps over dressing tables and bathroom mirrors sometimes throw out so much heat that it is uncomfortable to remain close to them for long periods; because of this, fluorescent lighting is becoming more and more in use.

Fluorescent lighting is cool, permitting a higher level of illumination without a corresponding rise in temperature.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Made to order for standing around rural election polls, just talking, yesterday was. Oh politics, of course, but somehow with the forsythia and the cherry blossoms, the tulips and the bleeding hearts all around you, even politics seemed to have lost its sting.

Almost expected the birds, doing airy arabesques, to be carrying blue ribbon streamers reading "Ever Thine" in pairs the way they used to on the old picture cards. It was that kind of day.

Even the election-night audience outside kept strolling off and the sight of maple leaves big enough to cast a shadow from the street lamps seemed for the moment as important as the figures on the chart.

But back to your picture post cards—how about framing the garden on the corner of Starbird and South Courtland—or the tulip beds next to the Court House—or those two trees just over the iron railroad bridge on Bradeside—the one a golden yellow locust (I think) and the other a red maple that always are so satisfying to the eye.

It's such a sudden Spring that it's caught us unprepared no doubt—without the glaze of indifference that we mostly allow to dull the impact of beauty enough so that we can go on our practical ways without always crying "Oh, Look!"

—Listen To Bobby Westbrook Friday, Monday Westbrooks Daily, on "The Party Line" WVPO, 10:05 a.m.

Widow Of Long-Time Pastor Recalls Early Days Of Church

Middle Smithfield—Stories of the early days of women's work in the Middle Smithfield Presbyterian Church going back almost to its beginning were brought out at the April meeting of the Women's Auxiliary of the church held at the manse on Wednesday.

Marking the sesquicentennial of women's work in the Presbyterian church at large, the program featured Mrs. Alice Blackwell, of Waterbury, Conn., whose late husband, Rev. Alvin Blackwell was pastor of the local church from 1892 to 1932.

Mrs. Blackwell was brought down from Westbury by the program chairman, Mrs. Edith Cortright and Mrs. Gene Hallett who motored up to get her. She was presented with a corsage of roses by the president, Mrs. Dora Hallett, on behalf of the group.

Mrs. Blackwell, in addition to her own personal recollections of many years of active service with the local organization, went back even further into the history of the local church through a letter she read from Mrs. Myra Ammerman, of Philadelphia. Mrs. Ammerman is the daughter of an even earlier pastor, Rev. Van Allen, and was closely connected with the women's society, having served as its secretary for many years. Her letter recalled early members and activities.

The history of the local women's work was woven into the pattern of the larger background. Mrs. Lois Crossan, in the opening devotion, selected Scripture readings describing women of Christian faith and character and paid her personal tribute to the Christian Women and their heritage of missionary work.

After a Bible study period conducted by Mrs. Mary Sloat, members of the society gave the background of National Women's Work from 1802 to 1950, and through the information submitted by Mrs. Adelaide Tait, president of Lehigh Presbyterian, of the Presbyterian work from 1879 to the present.

At the close of the program refreshments were served by Mrs. Nellie Mosier, Mrs. Evelyn DeWitt and Mrs. Doris Smith to members and guests. Visitors were: Mrs. Alice Blackwell, Mrs. Sarah Miller, Mrs. Margaret Clark, Mrs. Ruth Warner and Mrs. Ella Treible.

THE Wyckoff SHOPPER

All of Wyckoff's personnel is pleasantly excited about the store's 77th anniversary celebration, beginning tomorrow. As for me . . . well, I have double reason to celebrate, since it happens to be my birthday too. (Of course, I'm not advertising my years!) Despite all this, I understand that I'm not entitled to a piece of the anniversary cake . . . that is entirely for YOU, the customer, and since there will be just 2,000 pieces, it will be a case of first come, first served.

Hughes Printing Co. Owners Write Own Horatio Alger Success Story

The seventh of a series of articles dealing with industrial operations in Monroe County is presented today by The Daily Record. Aim of the series is to acquaint all citizens with what is produced here; how it is made, the type of people and skills engaged in each production and the economic impact of each industry on this region.

By James B. Gaffney

Horatio Alger's success story has a close parallel in the Hughes Printing Co., 34 N. Crystal St., East Stroudsburg, which has grown from a small one-linotype plant to one of the major contributors to the industrial development of the Stroudsburg within a period of 40 years.

Hard work, perseverance and the ability to foresee the future on the part of the founder, George C. Hughes, and his children, have paid dividends for the company — now recognized as among the best commercial printing houses in the country.

Started on a "shoestring" back in 1912 by their father, the Hughes family has advanced in great strides and today pays 450 employees over $1,500,000 a year.

Back in 1912 with just one linotype machine in operation, and plugging away 24 hours a day, even Sundays, the returns reached the grand total of from 10 to 25 cents a week, depending on how good business was.

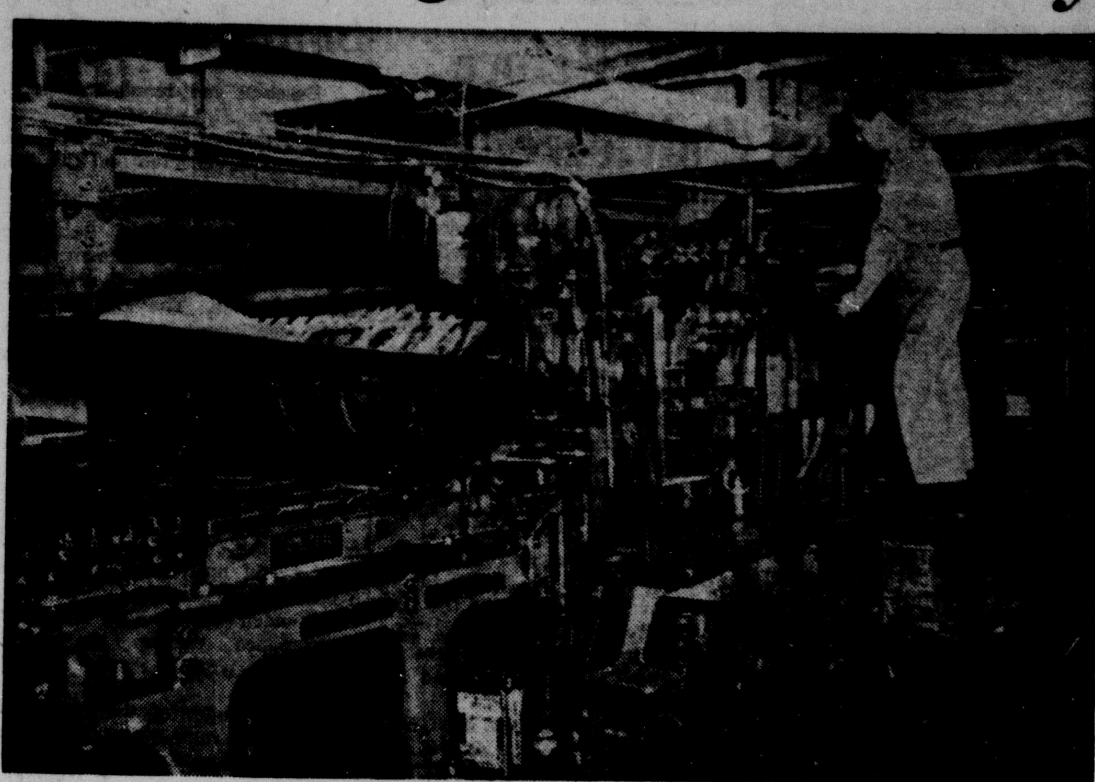

It was a spring afternoon in 1910 when George Hughes walked through the door in the old Jeffersonian plant and said he was ready to buy the paper. Interests in the Jeffersonian were held by several men who relinquished willingly. It was the birth of the Press Publishing Co. which later moved to East Stroudsburg, May 13, 1912, and appeared as the first East Stroudsburg daily paper.

Advertising space sold for five cents an inch and the one linotype machine in operation soon had help with the purchase of a machine from the Intertype Corp., one of the first machines to appear on the market.

After the paper changed hands and reverted again to the Hughes interests, commercial printing soon became the biggest revenue raiser, and in 1924 the paper was sold to a brokerage firm and then to Monroe Publishing Co.

By this time the publication of magazines had grown considerably and in 1930 a new building was constructed. At that time 200 employees drew salaries totaling approximately $300,000 annually and the business was valued at about $1,000,000. Today, with the purchase of many new presses, intertype machines, etc., the value of the plant has grown considerably and two more buildings house the enormous facilities.

Acquired to handle the augmented business were the former postoffice building and L. D. Sopher Co. property adjoining the original structure. A storage building also is located in Stroudsburg and a garage was built to accommodate four trucks the concern uses.

Presently there are 16 intertype machines and 36 presses in operation year-round. Ten of the presses print two colors and press runs are as high as 50,000. Three shifts are in operation in the press room and two each in the composing and bindery departments and because of the farsightedness of the owners, the operation remains constant. Even during the depression years, in the early '30s, few days were lost due to lack of work.

Starting in 1921 with one magazine, the Hughes family enlarged their sales department, located in New York City, and today prints between 80 and 100 journals and trade magazines monthly. Some publications are weekly, others semi-monthly and several are annual.

Two shifts of proof readers, about 15 employees, make copy corrections and a unique system has been set up between East Stroudsburg and New York to maintain steady contact with customers. A teletype machine is in operation, used principally to catch corrections requested at the final minute before press time.

Messenger service also speeds copy to the customer in New York. Proofs of the publications are rushed by personal messenger to the service headquarters in New York where another staff of 20 messengers disperses the copy to various customers. A truck also makes daily trips to the city to carry completed copy in large volume, and return with materials and orders. A business office also is maintained in New York to continue the steady traffic flow.

While the names of the journals printed here are not too widely recognized by the layman, among those that might "strike home" are: "Mill and Factory," a Converter-Mast publication; Waring Enterprises' "Music Journal"; "Plumbing and Heating Business," official publication of the National Association of Master Plumbers; "American Artist," which rated among the top 50 trade magazines editorially and typographically in the nation in 1950; and ten journals for the Haire Publishing Co.

Another magazine, "Paper Trade Journal," has been printed by the Hughes Co. for 25 years. Many others also have long been associated with the local printing house.

Some magazines published use a carload of paper, and because the paper shipments to the plant are so huge, a railroad siding in the rear of the building is used to bring the paper to the door.

About 60,000 tons of ink are used annually to complete the jobs and the presses using various colors can take up to 13 different shades on one job. An example of this is the many shades used to make up pattern books, a monthly publication, which goes to retail stores for deposit on counters where womenfolk may enjoy a wide selection.

Most employees at the plant have been trained by the company. One of the oldest employees, Giles H.

Burlingame, came here from Scranton and was able to do everything from setting ads on the newspaper to turning the big press with a monkey wrench on the flywheel. Today he is foreman of the stone shop. Several other workers have been with the Hughes firm for 20 to 25 years.

When the company bought the Sopher building, they reinforced all floors with heavy steel beams and now store their supplies on the first and third floors; the middle one is used as the bindery department.

Situated adjoining the postoffice, transportation of the finished publications for mailing is no problem, and because the mailing is exceptionally heavy is one of the reasons why the East Stroudsburg postoffice ranked 19th in volume in the state last year.

Interests in the firm is held by the Hughes family. Russell C., who lives in Stroudsburg and has his office in New York, is president; Lucy B. Hughes is vice president; Edwin B. is secretary and general manager and Helen C. Hughes is treasurer. Another brother, Carl, died a number of years ago.

Growth of this large concern proceeds decisively a careful, well planned program by the late George Hughes and his children, accomplished only after many years of arduous work. But today Hughes Printing Co. stands out prominently as one of the industrial leaders in the Stroudsburg and the huge payroll, over $1,500,000, is evidence alone of the part it plays economically for the area.

Revision Of School Grade System Urged

State Department of Public Instruction officials are currently encouraging school boards throughout the Commonwealth to revise their marking systems to allow a more equitable report on the progress of individual students.

Educators for many years have recognized the fact that each student's learning capacity is different from that of his neighbor—in many cases the old system does not take this into account.

As most adults who now have children will remember, in the "old days" a student was marked on the basis of his relationship with the rest of the class in the amount of knowledge gained during the marking period.

While this system may have provided an indication of which student in the class had learned most from the textbooks used in his classes, it failed completely to take into consideration such matters as his psychological adjustment to other students and ability to participate in extra-curricular activities.

Among the widening group of enthusiasts for a more comprehensive method of marking is Orren R. Wagner, elementary education chief in Pennsylvania.

"With the conventional type report card," Wagner says, "every child is expected to do the same work and is graded along with the most intelligent and receives a 'D'. This is required of the child with low ability in spite of a difference in aptitudes and abilities."

The department emphasizes their belief that academic growth is "only one part of the student's (overall) growth" and that many other factors should be taken into consideration.

Paul Cressman, director of instruction, points out the importance of participation by parents in the changing of report systems.

"The schools," Cressman said recently, "belong to the people. Parents should share in the planning of proper report cards just as they should share in other phases of the school program."

According to Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas, however, changes in the system of marking used by individual schools must be made by local school boards because they control that phase of their school program.

GREYHOUND

Life of Riley
By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Ray Steele picked up yesterday right where he left off last season, as the strong armed right hander fanned 16 Hellertown batters in posting a 5-1 victory for East Stroudsburg, in the latter's first Lehigh-Northampton League outing of the present campaign. Although 16 strikeouts is something to become excited about, the factor that struck this column as the most important in yesterday's mound performance was that Steele didn't give up a single base on balls, although he did hit one batter with a pitch slightly off center.

Steele also gave a great demonstration of hitting, blasting out a home run and a pair of important singles in five trips to the plate. It's been performances of this nature during the past two years that have virtually every major league scout in the business knocking on the lanky right-hander's door. It has also brought attractive college bids from such outstanding schools as Syracuse, Muhlenberg, Lehigh, Lafayette and Moravian. The kid is in the enviable position of not knowing which way to turn, as far as a professional baseball contract or a free college education is concerned.

The colleges aren't interested in Steele as a baseball player alone, but also have cast anxious eyes on the Bushkirk lad's basketball record of the past two campaigns. Steele received honorable mention on the All-Pennsylvania Scholastic basketball team selected by the Associated Press recently. Ray campaigned with Pocono A. C. during the Blue Mountain League season in 1951 and finished hostilities as the second best hurler in the circuit, although only 17 years-of-age. The opposition last summer was often twice Steele's age, with four times his experience. Latest reports indicate that Steele will be back with Pocono A. C. this summer, if he doesn't ink a professional contract.

Speaking of the Blue Mountain League brings to mind the fact that Art Novagratz, catcher with Roseto during the early stages of last season, is now playing right field for Moravian. Rumors are making the rounds concerning the fact that Fred "Benny" Leonard is about to resign as football coach at Pen Argil High to take a position under head coach George "Sammy" Moyer, as mentioned above, these reports are strictly in the rumor stage.

Anatomink's entry in the Pocono Mountains Baseball League will hold an Oyster and Baked Ham supper at the Anatomink POS of a Lodge Hall on Saturday. All proceeds from the affair will be used to finance the club during the coming campaign. A good turnout for the scheduled affair will go a long way toward assuring Anatomink of a successful season.

Chestnut Hill High will sport new uniforms when the Monroe County League opens its season tomorrow. The uniforms have been donated to the school by Irvin Altomese and Sons, automobile dealers in the Broadheadville area. Coach Otto "Junior" Mills and his Chestnut Hill contingent will be in quest of their third straight league title and fourth in the past five years. The only time Chestnut Hill's string of victories was snapped was three years ago, when the Millmen lost in a special playoff to Pocono High.

Speaking of the Monroe County League brings to mind the fact that all circuit games will get underway at 2 p. m., with the exception of contests held at Barrett. Games at Barrett will get underway at 3 p. m. Rev. Ernest T. Campbell and Rev. Hubert Newton, of the Stroudsburg and Delaware Water Gap Presbyterian Churches respectively, were among those baseball fans watching the New York Giants take the measure of the Phillies, 4-1 last night. Campbell undoubtedly was overjoyed with the result, as he is probably the number one supporter of the Polo Grounders in this area.

Three assists and a putout on one play is slightly irregular, but it occurred during yesterday's East Stroudsburg-Hellertown baseball game. Don Cawley, Hellertown catcher, tripled far over George Litts' head in right field, Litts raced into the distant portion of the outfield, overtook the ball and threw to center fielder Marlin "Ducky" Martz, who moved over to right field. Martz in turn tossed to first baseman John "Juice" Arst in the cut-off position. Arst threw to catcher Leon Alberts, who in turn blocked Cawley from the plate and made the putout.

Ed Ross, former southpaw hurler with Mahanoy City and Nazareth, when the North Atlantic League was still in session, was sought by Frank Radler, before the former Stroudsburg, pilot took over his new managerial duties at Union City, Tenn., in the class "D" Kitty League. However, Ross wouldn't sign a contract and is not on the Union City roster at the present time.

East Stroudsburg Gains Nod Over Hellertown, 5-1

Steele Retires 16 Batters On Strikes

Hellertown—East Stroudsburg High School opened the 1952 Lehigh-Northampton League pennant dash with a 5-1 victory over Hellertown High here yesterday, mainly on the strength of the pitching and hitting of Ray Steele, senior right handed twirler. Steele retired 16 batters via the strikeout route, didn't give up a free pass and hit only one batter with a pitched ball.

In addition to the outstanding pitching performance, Steele, who is the target for several major league talent scouts, contributed a home run and a pair of singles to the East Stroudsburg offense, in five trips to the plate. The lanky hurler made three of eight hits credited to the Cavaliers.

The Cavaliers opened the scoring in the second inning, when Harold Litts drew a life on an error, went to third as Harold White and John "Juice" Arst drew walks and scored on a squeeze bunt by Don France.

However, Hellertown came right back to even the count in the bottom of the same frame, when the home team bunched two of its three hits, with a costly passed ball in the middle.

Circuit Smash Steele unloaded his home run into right field, a 350-foot blast, in the top of the third to give the Cavaliers a lead they never relinquished. The bases were empty.

East Stroudsburg came back to pick up two more markers in the seventh. Marlin "Ducky" Martz drew a walk and raced to third on Steele's single. Both runners crossed the plate on Leon Alberts' double. However, Alberts was out trying to stretch the blow into a triple.

The visiting contingent completed its scoring in the top of the ninth, as Martz again walked, raced to third once again on Steele's third hit, a single, and scored on a liner to center by Harold Litts, which in turn was dropped by the flycatcher.

Except for the second frame Steele was never in danger of being scored on, as only two men in the Hellertown lineup were capable of hitting safely.

The Cavaliers return to the Lehigh-Northampton League wars on Friday, when a strong Parkland club makes its appearance at the East Stroudsburg Playground.

Reds Spoil Mizell's Debut For Cardinals

Cincinnati (AP) — Two walks and one booming triple by Joe Adcock wrecked the major league pitching debut of Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell last night and the Cincinnati Reds took a 2 to 1 decision from the St. Louis Cardinals. It was the fourth straight Redleg triumph.

The game was marked by a third-inning fust in which Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cardinals and shortstop Solly Hemus were banished from the game. Hemus was bounced for protesting a third strike.

Shoving Match Stanky was tossed out after he and Umpire Scotty Robb got into a shoving match as the Card boss protested Hemus' banishment.

Stanky claimed after the game that he did not shove Robb. He said he accidentally brushed the umpire while gesturing. He declared Robb then shoved him. Other players finally helped restore order.

Giants Decision Phillies, 4-1

Philadelphia (AP) — A third inning triple by Bob Thomson with the sacks loaded was the telling blow as the New York Giants defeated the Philadelphia Phillies, 4-1, last night. Righthander Larry Jansen scattered eight Philadelphia hits and outlasted a pair of Phillies' hurlers, starter Russ Meyer and reliever Jim Konstanty.

The lone Philadelphia tally came in the eighth inning on a homer by Willie Jones.

Helps Cause

Winning hurler Jansen aided his own cause in the Giants' big third frame. Catcher Wes Westrum led off with a single to left. Jansen then laid down an intended sacrifice bunt and both runners were safe as Eddie Waitkus made a late throw to second.

Dave Williams hit a blooper single down the third base line and the bases were loaded. Whitey Lockman lined to Jackie Mayo and the Phillies' outfielder made a perfect throw in to prevent a score.

Thomson then stepped up to the plate and tripled past Richie Ashburn to send Westrum, Jansen and Williams home.

The fourth New York run came in the sixth inning. "Hank" Thompson singled, stole second and then went home on Alvin Dark's single to left.

Wayne County Conference Forms Plans

Honesdale — Representatives of member schools of the Wayne County Basketball Conference meeting here recently adopted the Rocky Mountain Point system to determine the conference champion, the new method to be used beginning with the 1952-53 season.

The loop also adopted the 1952-53 schedule as prepared by Paul T. Ryder, president, and William Beddoe, secretary and formulated a new plan for the assignment of officials for conference games.

Inasmuch as the number of games played by the nine conference teams varies from 10 to 16, it was felt that a system that takes into consideration both the number of games played and the "class" of the opponent would result in more equitable rankings. The loop winner has been determined strictly on a percentage basis during the past three seasons.

Officials

Officials will be assigned by two organizations in the Lackawanna Valley, the Central Board and the Mid-Valley Basketball Association. The former will take care of the needs of the home contests of Greene-Dreher-Sterling, Moscow, Lake Township and Hawley while the latter will assign whistle-blowers for games played in Honesdale, Waymart, Damascus, Pleasant Mount and Northern Wayne.

No official will be allowed to work more than one game on any school's floor except in cases where weather and driving conditions interfere. Two appearances on any floor will be the absolute limit.

Alberts homered in the first with one on, while Calvin Frantz and Russell Hooley, hit for the circuit for Clearview in the fifth and sixth respectively, with the sacks unoccupied.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.
